The National Climate Seminar

Spring 2013 - 1st and 3rd Wednesdays at noon eastern

Join us every first and third Wednesday via conference call and listen in real-time to climate professionals discuss the latest science, politics, and economics of climate change. Assign these calls to your students, listen online after the call, or download the podcast. A question and answer session follows each presenation - send all questions to climate@bard.edu. All speaker information and recorded calls are available on our website at www.bard.edu/cep/ncs.

Simply call # 1-712-432-3100 Code # 253385 at 12:00pm eastern on the scheduled day.

Feb. 6 — Cutting Carbon at Power Plants
Daniel Lashof, Director
Climate & Clean Air Program, NRDC

Feb. 20 — Offshore Wind: Potential and Politics
Mike Tidwell, founder and director
Chesapeake Climate Action Network

Mar. 6 — After Sandy, What Next?
Brenda Ekwurzel, Climate Scientist, Asst. Dir. of Climate Research & Analysis, Union of Concerned Scientists

Mar. 20 — Lobbyists for Climate Action
Mark Reynolds, Executive Director
Citizens Climate Lobby

Apr. 3 — Between God and Green
Katharine Wilkinson
Author, Between God and Green

Apr. 17 — Corruption, Democracy, Climate
Bill McKibben (invited)
Author, Educator, Environmentalist & Founder, 350.org

May 1 — Co-Benefits and Climate Justice
Manuel Pastor, Professor of American Studies & Ethnicity, University of Southern California and James Boyce, Professor of Economics, University of Massachusetts

National Climate Seminar @BardCEP

The National Climate Seminar is sponsored by the Bard Center for Environmental Policy and made possible by a grant from the Clif Bar Family Foundation. The National Climate Seminar welcomes a new media partner, Island Press, publisher of The Climate Solutions Consensus (2011) edited by David E. Blockstein and Leo Wiegman.

EMAIL climate@bard.edu WEB www.bard.edu/cep/ncs

Bard CEP Center for Environmental Policy
Island Press
CLIF