

Faculty Research and Travel Fund Guidelines

The Faculty Research and Travel Fund supports professional work by faculty members (6/13ths time and above). This fund provides reimbursement of up to $2,000 for professional work during that academic year. The $2,000 may be split between multiple activities over the academic year. Documentation of the activity, original receipts, and an itemized list and total of expenses for which reimbursement is being sought should be submitted to the appropriate administrative support staff for submission to the Dean's Office up to three times per year (see full reimbursement procedure and deadlines below).

Expenses in the following subcategories are eligible:

- 1) Expenses associated with archival and/or field research. These may include travel and research expenses for the faculty member in question as well as hiring of research assistants, translators, etc. The faculty member provides a brief statement connecting the research to a specific ongoing research project.
- 2) Expenses associated with conference presentation, or acting as an officer on the board of the conference's presenting organization whose attendance is required. Participation in workshops or other collaborative settings may also fall under this provision if directly related to a professional project. The faculty member provides confirmation of the presentation or a statement relating conference participation to specific scholarly, curricular, and/or professional development goals.
- 3) Expenses related to presentation and/or performance of artistic or scholarly work. The faculty member provides a statement explaining the importance of the expenses for the project in question.
- 4) Expenses related to materials and supplies for the production of artistic or scholarly work. Up to $500 can be used toward the purchase of books, memberships and subscriptions. For technical fields, this might include software or datasets but will exclude hardware and technical equipment. For scholarly research, it might include website access or purchase of collected research materials. For books and journal articles, it might include submission fees, subvention funds, image reproduction, page charges, indexing costs, editorial assistance, or manuscript review. For artistic projects, it might include supplies fundamental to artistic production, such as film stock, canvases, raw materials, etc. Again, the faculty member provides a statement explaining the importance of the expenses for the project in question.
