ABOUT THE ARTIST

Eliza Karpiak is a flutist studying in Bard College Conservatory with Dr. Tara Helen O'Connor. Her previous teachers include Jeffrey Khaner and Dr. Lynne Cooksey. Since 2019, she has attended several festivals, including Domaine Forget in Quebec and MusicAlp in Tignes, France. She has played in masterclasses for Emmanuel Pahud, Denis Bouriakov, Mathieu Dufour, Benoit Fromanger, Vincent Lucas, Mario Caroli, Leone Buyse, Ransom Wilson, Keith Underwood, and Susan Hoepfner. She was awarded the Dr. Ingrid A. Spatt '69 Memorial Flute Scholarship in 2023, 2024, and 2025. Eliza was a member of several youth orchestras, most notably Philadelphia Young Artists Orchestra and Philadelphia Youth Orchestra, and is currently a member of the Bard Conservatory Orchestra, having played in notable venues such as the Kimmel Center in Philadelphia, Fisher Center at Bard, and Lincoln Center in New York. Outside of music, Eliza is passionate about poetry and German literature. She recently finished writing her senior project Ten of Coins, a collection of poems centered around her Polish heritage and her family history.
