BARDIAN

Vol. 15 No. 1 September 10, 1935

Front Page
Martin Flavin Play May Be Produced By Theatre Group
Bard Theatre Negotiates For 'Sunday' By Author Of Broadway Successes
Classes Elect: Hopf Temporary Annual Editor
Ficker And Harris Lead Freshmen, Parent On Council
Stuart Chase To Speak Here Oct. 14 On 'A New Deal'
First Of Lecture Series To Be Given In Gymnasium
Fall Promenade Set For Nov. 15
The Lyceum Still Stands
An Editorial
From The Dean
New Organ Recital Series Inaugurated
College Opens Year With Formal Dinner
Howland Davis, Of Trustee Board Is Guest Speaker
Largest Freshman Class To Enter Is Welcomed
Dr. Edwards Writes For Sociology Journal
Publications May Unite; Meeting To Be Held This Week
Financing Of Literary Magazine Is Hope Of Sketch Book And Bardian

Page 2
Welcome '39
Policies
Sports
Elliot Rosenberg
Reflections On Wuthering Heights
College Play
Bardinetts
Art And Theatre Groups To Keep In Close Contact
Art Students To Work On Sets; One Sixth To Take Art

Page 3
New Students
Co-Captain Frost Writes To The Bardian
Additional Stops Donated To The Organ
Alumni News' Established As Monthly Publication
Fall Alumni Day On Saturday, Nov. 9

Page 4
Three New Men Join Bard Staff For Year '35-'36
Everett, Class Of 1924, Is Alumni Secretary; White And Fuller Join
Columbia College Varsity Football Schedule, 1935
Bard College Athletic Schedule For 1935-36
Stuart Chase To Speak Here Oct. 14; On "A New Deal"

First Of Lecture Series To Be Given In Gymnasium

Stuart Chase, noted author and economist, will speak at Bard College on Monday, October 14. This will be the first of a series of lectures and concerts to be sponsored by the college this year. The lecture will probably be held in the Memorial Gymnasium and will be free to students and faculty. It is expected, as was the case last year, that a number of people from the surrounding towns will be present at this and other lectures and recitals throughout the college year.

The subject of Mr. Chase’s lecture will be "A New Deal." This, we are informed not to be interpreted as representing the policies of the present administration. Mr. Chase will use the method of study and illustration that has made his books so popular.

Stuart Chase is known as the author of "The Tragedy of Waste," 1920; "Men and Machines," 1922; "Modern Economics of Two Americas" (in collaboration with Mabel Taylor) 1923; and a new book in 1922. He was educated at Massachusetts Institute of Technology and Harvard University. He was a member of the Economic Policy Board of the Federal Reserve System in 1913; Mr. Chase then continued in that capacity until 1917, when he accepted a position as economic advisor to the Committee on the American Fur Industry’s most pressing practices from 1917 to 1922.

Fall Promenade Set For Nov. 15

In a joint meeting of the Classes of 1920 and 1927 held in the Student Recreation Room on Saturday, September 7th, it was decided that the project will be given serious consideration.

Mr. Chase said that the project will be given serious consideration.

The decision was reached after much study and discussion, and the matter will be brought before the Faculty for consideration. The project is expected to be completed by the end of the current academic year.

THE LYRE TREE STILL STANDS—An Editorial

To those who have known Annandale for many years, it may seem that its most recent inhabitants are indulging in an orgy of tradition-breaking and name-changing in an effort to establish a new identity.

This, however, is not the case. The name of the college paper from The Lyre Tree to The Bardman, however, has not been effective to defray tradition. For some time, various members of the student body have expressed the opinion that The Lyre Tree is not a suitable name for a college paper. Early last year a call was sent out for suggestions for a new name and the present name was eventually adopted.

This year the staff has taken it upon itself to change the name to The Bardman. We feel that this name is fitting for the college, as it is a tradition that has been preserved. The name is also a reflection of the college’s rich literary history and its commitment to the arts.

In any event, we urge the preservation of the Lyre Tree, as it has been a tradition in Annandale for many years. The Lyre Tree provided a unique opportunity for students to express their creative talents and share their ideas with the community. We hope that the new name will continue to serve this purpose.

Dr. Edwards Writes For Sociology Journal

The September issue of the American Journal of Sociology contains an article by Dr. Lyle F. Edwards, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Bard, entitled "Religious Sectarianism and Race Prejudice." Also in the September issue is a review by Dr. Edwards of "Realist Guy Taggert" and Howard C. Hill's "Our Economic Society and Its Problems: A Study of Sociology and Philosophy of How to Improve Them." Dr. Edwards, by virtue of an education both as a sociologist and a clarinetist, is well known as an authority on the sociological implications of religion.

COLLEGE OPENS YEAR WITH FORMAL DINNER

Howland Davis, Of Trustee Board Is Guest Speaker

At the first formal dinner of the year Dean Twedt’s hall set forth the ideals that form the basis of the Bard College plan. The guest of the evening was Mr. Howland Davis, a former governor of the New York Stock Exchange and a Trustee of the college.

Mr. Richard H. Rorer who was the first speaker told of the changing of the name of the college paper from The Lyre Tree to The Bardman and the future program for the publication. The entering class was introduced in attendance and faculty, and was given a chance to discuss the work of the college. The Social Science Department was introduced in attendance, as well as in other fields, is always heavy. I am confident that this year the admission of the members of the Editorial Board, the new student publication will be able to meet these responsibilities. The success of the Announcements of committees will be determined by the near future.

New Organ Recital Series Inaugurated

Sunday afternoon’s organ recital at the college church, Mr. White was in the first of a series of recitals which will be held throughout the school year. The following recital series was submited:

Harold in the Cantata: "I stand before the gate of Heaven." Choral Preludes: "In thee, Lord Jesus Christ." "Come, Holy Ghost, the Comforter." Among the announcements of committees will be made in the near future.

The Seventy-sixth year of the college, the second under the new administration, opened on Tuesday, September 3, with the largest enrollment in recent years. The enrollment at the time of writing is approximately one hundred and thirty with more than new men expected before the close of the term. The last enrollment was some two weeks hence.

The program that was arranged during freshman week was, according to its leaders, planned in such a way as to make the new men feel at home and know something of the traditions and customs of the college. In addition to periods for roll, the regulations of The Modern Languages, and Vocational Studies were introduced to all freshmen. Each student was given to every man and there were several gatherings including the Senior Class ‘tea,’ the Normal Dinner on Saturday night, and the Annual Banquet on Monday night. For the soccer games and truck week scheduled for specialties followed. The next day, September 7th, the college was held with both faculty and students in full academic costume. The first session of the fall term was held Monday, September 9th.

Agawam Renewal

The town of Agawam is the scene of an era of change in the educational institutions of the town with emphasis on the division of large colleges into small units. It was this which caused Harvard to adopt its house plan and Columbia to incorporate the former B. St. Peter’s into the University.

In addition the dean announced the names of all new faculty and athletic officers for the coming year.

Dr. Edwards Writes For Sociology Journal

The September issue of the American Journal of Sociology contains an article by Dr. Lyle F. Edwards, Professor of Economics and Sociology at Bard, entitled "Religious Sectarianism and Race Prejudice." Also in the September issue is a review by Dr. Edwards of "Realist Guy Taggert" and Howard C. Hill’s "Our Economic Society and Its Problems: A Study of Sociology and Philosophy of How to Improve Them." Dr. Edwards, by virtue of an education both as a sociologist and a clarinetist, is well known as an authority on the sociological implications of religion.
THE BARDIAN

Societies

Elliott Rosenberg

[The following text is not fully legible due to the quality of the image.]

Policies

The Bardian has no intentions of setting itself out as a center of the values of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the Tennessee Valley Authority. We leave such matters to the more profound minds on larger journals. However, we will fight for the ideals of tolerance and open-mindedness here on the campus. We will fight for the freedom of speech when they propose such liberty-munching measures as the Ives Law and the new deal, and we hope for advice, Xanadu Bill. We will take an active stand against William Randolph Hearst and journalists in his employ. The reason is that we believe because we see that they are among the most vicious and disintegrating forces in American civilization and more particularistic in American education. We will join one of the many on-campus outcries in a campaign of expression of the temper of college men and women in regard to the administration’s war in Iraq, and probably in future, just as in the past, it will be impossible to attempt to influence these forces, we will continue to contribute to the influence of war.

WELCOME '89

You of the Class of 1939 have undoubtedly been subjected to a thorough training in the part of parents, teachers, and friends. If you remember your pre-freshman days correctly, this advice consists of instructions on how to study, how to maintain your religious beliefs, and when to wear your rubbers. You know all about the parents, teachers, and friends - but in this case, and you are presumably aware of the fact that the Sophomores will try to keep you in the dark for as long a time as they find it healthy to do so.

To all well-meaning and generally excellent only add a few words of welcome. You have signified Bard as being the college of your choice, and we are glad. We propose excellent reports of your abilities, and we are confident that you will contribute more than your share to the life of the college. You will find here a new and courageous education plan built upon your individual aptitudes. You will find a congenial atmosphere and many recreative extra-curricular activities. The BARDIAN invites you to avail yourselves of these things, and hopes that the time you spend here at Amherst will be pleasant and beneficial.

POLICIES

In the belief that attitudes toward current events are the deciding factors in the longevity of college journalists’ stay in college, we strongly recommend, for the remainder of our term of office as rough drafts, the following outline:

THE BARDIAN has no intentions of setting itself out as a center of the values of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration or the Tennessee Valley Authority. We leave such matters to the more profound minds on larger journals. However, we will fight for the ideals of tolerance and open-mindedness here on the campus. We will fight for the freedom of speech when they propose such liberty-munching measures as the Ives Law and the new deal, and we hope for advice, Xanadu Bill. We will take an active stand against William Randolph Hearst and journalists in his employ. The reason is that we believe because we see that they are among the most vicious and disintegrating forces in American civilization and more particularistic in American education. We will join one of the many on-campus outcries in a campaign of expression of the temper of college men and women in regard to the administration’s war in Iraq, and probably in future, just as in the past, it will be impossible to attempt to influence these forces, we will continue to contribute to the influence of war.

REFLECTIONS ON THE WINTERING HEIGHTS

Societies

Elliott Rosenberg

Since this column has never failed to give a timely warning to those who have no idea what to do about being informed the froth about froth, we are in a position to set forth herein, forthright and honestly, the Great Bardian Guide.

1. Do not let upperclassmen enter your dorm, play stereo through doors, and especially drink coffee in the dormitory. This is not a 1950’s p.h. paining the art studio.

2. The practical course of the arts becomes apparent recently when sufficient heed is given to the following points:

- Only to meddle, blindingly rushing. - That there exists a plurality of the level: a walkway of a heart-throb, Nevertheless, the only thing that the week has been to meddle, blindingly rushing.

Art And Theatre Groups To Keep In Close Contact

Art Students To Work On Sets; One Sixth To Be Viewed By Visitors

For the coming year the policy of interdepartmental co-operation will be the keynote of the Drama Department and the Dramatics departments, which, now that the new building is being remodeled, will be better able to maintain their individualities effectively. Bets to be used in the productions of the theatre will be designed in the studio under the joint direction of Mr. R.W. Wilson, Mr. Harold Hassinger, and Mr. Har-

Publications

May Unitie Meeting To Be Held This Week

(Continued From Page One)

Art students will work on sets for the productions of this spring. One sixth of the student body will be employed in the theatre department. This will be done in cooperation with the Drama Department and the Dramatics departments, which, now that the new building is being remodeled, will be better able to maintain their individualities effectively. Bets to be used in the productions of the theatre will be designed in the studio under the joint direction of Mr. R.W. Wilson, Mr. Harold Hassinger, and Mr. Har-

(Continued From Page One)

Wishing Heights

(College Play)

Two ever rushing avalanches
That clash and come new, seem
To run, to hurl, to shatter, yet to mend;
Two ever leaping torrents
That drowned the pleasures of this life:
A view of a heart-throb, Nevertheless, the only thing that the week has been to meddle, blindingly rushing.
Co-Captain Frost Writes to The Bardian

The 1935 soccer season will open with the Bard team playing West Chester Teachers College at Zubriskie Field on Thursday, October 17. Although there may be a game preceding this, the present schedule consists of the West Chester game, followed by Trinity on October 19 at Hartford. Hamilton, November 2 at Utica and R. P. I., November 9 at hercules. Formal soccer practice and a call for candidates will be announced later this week.

Co-Captain Frost and Chayton wish to urge all new men of any athletic inclination to appear for practice as soon as the Athletic Department announces the field in condition to be used. They direct their appeal chiefly to the freshmen class, because of its size and most likely to produce excellent varsity material. In a statement to the Review, Co-Captain Frost says: "Many depend on the cooperation of the class of 1935. Although there are only a few positions open because of graduation, the present team consists mostly of Juniors and Seniors. Thus it is highly advisable to secure and train as many new men, preferably freshmen, as possible. It might be encouraging to point out to the new man that only two of the present Varsity squad had played organized soccer prior to their participation at Bard; in experience, therefore, there is no necessary excitement from the sport. As to the past, any and all Varsity men will always be willing and eager to help new men in the techniques of heading, blocking, trapping, dribbling, etc."

Speaking of another cooperation, Masers. Frost and Chayton appeal to the student body, faculty and staff to support the team this year by attendance at games, as well as a constructively critical rather than negative attitude toward the team.

Quality Cleaning and Drying
PRESSING AND REPAIRING

Week-End Service—Monday, Wednesday, Friday
Beckwith Company, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.
Bard's Oldest Cleaner
Campus Agent: Louis Parent

The College Store Welcomes

"What we haven't got, we'll get!"

Service—Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays
Clothes Called For and Delivered
Parent Beckwith Co., POTTER 5
This United Co.

We clean everything but your conscience!"

The Notion Shop
Red Hook, N. Y.
UNITED CIGAR SALES AGENCY
Stationery and Novelties—Gifts and Greeting Cards
Bernard School Eating Car Library Laundry and Cleaning Service — Ammunition
FRO-JOY Ice Cream Bar
Warren W. Rockefeller Phone 45F5

Fresheim's
This Bard's Meeting and Eating Place
MILLER'S GRILL
Fine Wines and Liquors
George A. Miller Prop.
Master Mixer
PHONE 1107-F11
E. Market Street
Red Hook, N. Y.
Dobla Beer
Geneseo Ale

"GREETINGS"
Beckman Arms welcomes the return of Bard College faculty and students and extends a most cordial invitation to all to visit
THE OLDEST HOTEL IN AMERICA
Rhinebeck, N. Y.
We have on hand at all times for CHESTERFIELD cigarettes upwards of 350,000 bales of Turkish tobacco...

The pleasing aroma and flavor of Turkish tobacco is almost necessary if you want a good cigarette.

Turkish tobacco is more costly when you take into account that you have to pay 35c a pound duty, but we have to have it to blend with our mild ripe home-grown tobaccos.

It helps make Chesterfield milder, it helps give them better taste. Just try them.

© 1936, LEIGHT & MUNY TOWED CO