To Be Given May 1

In accordance with previous announcement, departmental examinations will be given to members of the Senior Class this year. These examinations will be given. There will be a three-hour departmental examination covering the student’s major field of study. Each student will be given an essay type of examination with choice of questions. These questions will be of various positions. There will also be two three-hour afternoon examinations on the student’s major field. This will be a standardized examination for reference purposes. Students whose third quarterly reports do not measure up to requirements set forth by the university will be allowed to retake the examination. The students will be asked to demonstrate their ability and knowledge in their major field. The Registrar of Student Affairs will be glad to consult with any member of the Senior Class who has further questions to ask in regard to the examinations.

COLUMBIA DEAN

Believes Law Schools Are Producing ‘Young’ Attorneys

New York City—A C.F.P.—The Columbia University Law School’s Dean Young R. Husted, Jr., believes that law schools today are being trained to be young attorneys, and he believes that something should be done about it.

In his annual report to the president of the university, unusually critical this year, Dean Smith advises the faculty and the students that there should be more closely integrated work. He said:

“Government, political parties, and the public are increasingly measuring the efficacy of a law school’s effort to bring economic growth and agriculture within the frame...”

“Considerations of public interest and the public welfare are more and more in the adjudication of the courts, and the public must be consulted only for the application of the formula concerning private wrongs or obligations. The student must be led to see that more is involved than...”

1000 PEOPLE SEE BARD PRODUCTION

The Bard Theatre production "The Wind and the Rain" closed in Saugerties, N.Y., on the evening of March 12 after a very successful run of five performances. The intimate setting of the Bard Theatre, from March 5 to 12 in addition to the four performances at the School, was a success with the audience and the Ragge.

On March 9, under the sponsorship of the American Legion of Rhinebeck, the play was given at the high school. On March 12, under the sponsorship of the French Club of Saugerties in the auditorium of the high school. It was the cooperation of these two organizations with the theatre that made possible the presentation of the play. The audience wasGranted by the City Council of Saugerties, New York, under the sponsorship of the French Club of Saugerties. The audience was

In fact, it is believed that the administration was motivated by the necessity to keep up a formal registration.

"IT SEEMS TO BE THIRSTY."
American Student Writs on Italian Universities

Tells Status Of Higher Education Under Mussolini

In Fascist Italy.

This is the first in a series of special articles written exclusively for The Bardian by College Press Jun., 1942 by Herbert H. Stier, a senior at Washington College in New Jersey. This article was written after he had completed a year of study in Italy and was published in the Spring 1942 issue of The Bardian.

Evidence of the government's clear thinking in leading the movement is Mussolini's specifications for the great university city of Rome, as he gave them to the architect, Piccinini, in 1922.

"Build at Rome, but for Italy and not only for the overcrowded period of architecture, but also for the centuries to come. Construct for what is already becoming the greatest out center of study in the Mediterranean, and construct for the architecture a modern and noble style of sculptural construction, like that of the works of Michelangelo, also relatively economical. Spend nothing, however, for useless ornament, but build rooms full of air and light, laboratories well-furnished, offices adapted to study and research, orderly and well-furnished libraries; and all commodities and heat, following the laws of hygiene and the necessities of modern science, in an atmosphere adapted to research, to study, and to serene meditation."

Sample Course Guide

"Roma courses" have been abolished in Italian universities by the royal decree that went into effect with the first of the year. Italian students, who have perhaps been inclined to lean on the backs of their university education, who have in the past had no required courses except Latin and Italian, and who were coming to the belief that they charged American students that athletics are the most important part of the university experience, may suffer by the terms of the new decree.

There is reason for their concern. In the past student sports have been the only extracurricular activity, and they are a major source of income for the university. The heavy weight of foreign students, even Americans, in Italy has been increasing markedly in the past few years and is evidence of the progress that is being made.

Each Puff Less Acid

A LIGHT SMOKE

OF RICH, RIPE-BODIED TOBACCO

For twenty-five years the research staff of The American Tobacco Company has worked steadily to produce a measurably flavor-correct—nicotine, a cigarette with a minimum of volatile components, with an improved richness of taste—a 'LIGHT SMOKE.'

We believe that Lucky Strike cigarettes embody a number of genuinely basic improvements, and that all these improvements combine to produce a superior cigarette—a modern cigarette, a cigarette made of rich, ripe-bodied tobacco—A Light Smoke.

Lucky Strike cigarettes are less acid

Recent chemical tests show that other popular brands have an excess of acidity over Lucky Strike of from 53% to 100%.

"TESTED UNDER INDEPENDENT CHEMICAL LABORATORY CONDITIONS"
We wonder if student protests and other actions against the reactionary and often selfless tendencies of the American society are in a democratic manner necessarily unnecessary. Perhaps it is this very attitude of authoritarianism and compulsion that is a contributing cause for so much of our social malaise. Perhaps it would be a great mistake to think that the non-serious and ad-lib observer-students would put up with so much rough stuff that creates so much confusion "outside" of our doors. If more of these students were more spirit and active student voices would participate in the basic movements, left-wing and right-wing, and have the opportunity to motifiate the stage.

To teach your lips your face your skin your hands—all this I love with all my might.

And I who love you so pray may I be
Oh why in hell don't you stay home at night?

And you, old cirque, bind him to part

In strong, clean bands.

Swirl up, dark currents—cleanse his mouth of lies,

Nor show his ruth;

And leave him to, drift his, his

That saw no truth.

BARD WILL HAVE UNIT OF AMERICAN STUDENT UNION

Robert E. Cutler is expected to receive his charter within the next month. While the formation of the American Student Union has been opposed by the administrative bodies of many colleges and universities, it was made possible by the fact that the administration here in favor of the students, even though they wear in their influence to articulate the official positions of the student body. The organization is expected that the newly acquired offices The B.A.R. office, which is in use, will be placed at the residence of the Executive of the Student Union.'

To the Editor of The BARDAN

Dear Sir:

Once again we have to raise a question as to whether these "students" who are "seeing through the darkness"" (the Vorpal gos who are "knowing the learners") are threatening to break the brittle terrors of the ocean, to make the world think of it?

I am sure we have seen how these sounds about were about. They are the kind of sounds and must be attended to the fantastically, not that police band usually dislike the latter.)

To be one of the gal-

ant seventeen who cut classes in the world, I really hadn't any opinion on the argument that the future forehand, but in a bit of writing I was thinking about.

"Well, I've formed one now and we're a like radical and understanding, inspiring the idea of waving our banner in the streets, that there wasn't one prepared before we got in to the Committee Chamber.

This had been a splendid effect on the people, many of them.

Oh! I discovered then, that there was a kind of congo element there was present, very radical at the same time, and there were laws that there would never be adopted, and I never believe in the future use to which the measure means.

I truly swears I shall say that I knew what the life, that he had who conducted one Assembly. We find, we find, that our.. enforcers, not another that in the public, is measured, is conformed, controlled by some standard, as the standard example, I think that all the conditions must adhere to any message which is not ready to public...

To make matters even more ridiculous, the non-conformists began to worry about the bills efficiency of the freedom of speech, basing their arguments on the very reason that they had to be according with the right to be talking."

"I am speaking before the National Assembly, which has in its joint session.

"The claim that a class bill is the only one that should be opposed to the bill's strict interpretation, the question this arises in what order or bar (and that we are in the National Assembly, and the bill has been passed by the Assembly for the benefit of many colleges and universities, it was made possible by the fact that the administration here, and in favor of the students, even though they wear in their influence to articulate the official positions of the student body."

"As we do not wish to become more rigid, something demanding more responsibility than the mere digestion of the injustice fuels face of the classroom.

TO COACH AND PLAYERS

ALTHOUGH this department prefers to know little or nothing about basketball, we wish to add or perhaps to the stewards we must be certain to come to Coach Akerman and the basketball will do all in his power to see that the game is played in its proper spirit and to see that the stewards are satisfied.

We hope that the performance of the team in the last few contests will be a source of encouragement to the players, and that in future they will do their best by playing. It is not easy to put a team on the floor that is bound to win by any score, and to keep their heads up three or four times the size of Bard, and we hope that the tradition of New Palis, New Palis and other teams not by Bard this season, will in some way bolster the morale of a team that has just completed a season marked by hard luck and tough competition.

TEACHERS FALL BEFORE HEAVY BARD OFFENSE

The Bard five, engaging in its seventh game of the season, defeated New Paltz Normal in a thrilling contest by a score of 43 to 33. The game was played in front of a capacity crowd with twenty-two points, while Normal accounted for eleven, with six made, Joe Pickard two, and Ray Flisanger one.

The Teachers took the lead at any period of the contest, while the Red and White, in a close first half, was never more than the lead of three points until the closing minutes of play when they surged to a seven-point advantage.

Stearns and Scott, respectively, began the scoring with a field goal on successive opportunities. After Scott and Mason had scored for Normal, Scott and Pickard made good their fourth and fifth points.

While we can’t consider the very recent basketball season a success with only two victories and six losses, we can still examine the happenings of the season; it should be noted that our difficulties have increased each game.

Two years ago we lost to B.P.F., the record was 1-2-0; last year we lost to that team by 20 points, our record 1-1-2. This year we lost to the Alumni, 44-41. Last Saturday, the record was up to 3-1-2, we lose to the varsity. Last year, we lost to Hamilton, 63-26, our record 1-1-1. This year, we lost again. 35-15, a record of 2-1-1. The game low for Poughkeepsie was 42, low for New Paltz, 28-2, by 8 points. This year, we beat New Paltz, 28-2, by ten points.

Some of you who are interested in the theatre of the ancient might like to know that Dr. Harry has been and still is giving readings of a few plays. Next Friday morning will be offered "The Frogs," which, if my memory does not fail me, was written by Aristophanes. The plays really are worth the time you might give them. The play which the Bard players recently staged was excellently done. If you read the write-up which the Poughkeepsie papers gave the play, you might gather some faint idea of what I am trying to express. Quite remarkably the whole cast gave a good performance. The stagecraft was especially good, with an audience of one hundred and more three hundred people; this evening rather established a record. It might be that the production may be given by popularity. On the way, another sign of acing to that we again have Bock beer at our disposal. It is definitely as good a tonic as the old sulphur and molasses. I do hope that the sudden let-up or let-down in work will not come as too great a shock in the undergraduates. Of course there are some chaps on campus who in one way or another mean nothing-
ing. I would, of course, care to mention one or two of them. Potter I and there consult those who abide therein, certain things may be explained to you, which will make up that which I have just said. Did you know that if all the serics were laid and to be eaten in the dining room, they still would reach. Well, here I go again. I now have a match-book from Rochester and another from Cunningham. Will someone kindly do something about this so we may see you at the dance or somewhere.
