On a tour through the East, the Duke’s undergraduate Debating Team stopped over at Bard College during the weekend of February 22-23. After winning the Team on the much-considered subject, Revered; that Congress by a two-thirds vote override adverse decisions of the Supreme Court, Masers, Satterfield and Cleveland of Duke defended the negative side and Measars, Crenshaw and Keen of Bard defended the affirmative side. The debate was over for thirty minutes and resulted in a tie. The tie was decided by the decision of the judge, Professor of English, Mr. Crenshaw. By 3-2, the tie was declared.

Mr. Crenshaw, beginning the discussion, pointed out that the Supreme Court considers not the will of the majority of the people, but what is deemed to be in the best interest of the country. He stated that the Court is a judicial and legislative body, and that it is not the right of the people to question the Court's decisions. He concluded by saying that the Supreme Court is a body of judges who are elected by the people, and that they are the ones who make the final decision.

Mr. Crenshaw's counterpart, Mr. Keen, began by saying that the Supreme Court is not a body of judges who are elected by the people, but it is a body of judges who are appointed by the President and confirmed by the Senate. He stated that the Court is not above the law, and that it is not the right of the people to question the Court's decisions.

The debate continued with both sides presenting their arguments, and the tie was finally decided by the decision of the judge. The tie was declared 3-2 in favor of the affirmative side.

NEW COMMITTEE TAKES CHARGE OF SCHOLARSHIP

At a faculty meeting held on March 16 a Committee on Student Aid was appointed to take charge of the administration of all student aid policies and procedures. A new policy for the consideration of the faculty committee was presented. The committee recommended that all students seek aid from all possible sources, and that the aid committee be appointed by the faculty at the next meeting. It was voted to have the temporary committee on student aid to continue until the next meeting of the faculty. The committee was appointed by the faculty at the next meeting and will be responsible for all student aid policies and procedures.

GIVES LECTURE ON SHAKESPEARE

At the College Convocation, April 2, 1936, students and faculty of Bard College were addressed by Mr. Francis Case, a distinguished literary critic, who discussed "The Early Theatre in Shakespeare's Time." Mr. Case's lecture was well received by the audience, and he was given a standing ovation at the conclusion of his address.

Mr. Case's lecture was an in-depth examination of the early theatre in Shakespeare's time, and he provided the audience with a wealth of historical and critical information. He discussed the development of the theatre in England, and the various forms of theatre that existed during Shakespeare's lifetime. He also provided a detailed analysis of the plays that were performed in the early theatre, and he discussed the role of the actors and staft in the production of the plays.

Mr. Case's lecture was well received by the audience, and he was given a standing ovation at the conclusion of his address. The lecture was a valuable contribution to the understanding of Shakespeare's work, and it provided the audience with a deeper appreciation of the theatre in Shakespeare's time. Mr. Case's lecture was well received by the audience, and he was given a standing ovation at the conclusion of his address.

Tempest in a Chinese Tea Pot

Undergraduate shows that none of the little birds at the University of Michigan are happy with the new "Moonlight Knights" in the Chinese student club. The new "spare" has been especially改过的 negatives arguments he has stated that Americans, with more than enough of the present system of the Supreme Court, published a book which he says has lost all his friends in the American Student Club at that University.

The Japanese, whose, one, the watchword "Moonlight Knights" has been very much discouraged, has said the Chinese student cannot do the decent thing and run the risk of losing his place.

The Chinatown is so_depthly that they called off a dinner for which Kagawa was scheduled.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"Today it appears that the Chinese, in order to keep the average students from leaving school," said the editor of the Harvard Alumni Bulletin. "We are very happy to have the opportunity to see these students stay in town."" Industrial firms are once again hiring students from the college, making prospective employes, said John D. Rockefeller, Jr., director of a new residential community, "in a very satisfactory situation." "The American is a well-kept country, the job possibilities know no end," said the Banker. "The American is also producing millions of dollars," said the President Herbert Hoover, contributor to the "McGraw-Hill" annual firm's bulletin..."}

ATHELE SELLS SELF SHARES

Madison, Wis. — A.C.P. — The self-owned system, brought to its peak by Max Bauer when he sold more than 300 per cent to the managers under the belief that "per cents" are the "pieces of pie" that has been successfully used by Edward Gage, University of Wisconsin football player and scholar, to finance a trip abroad.

Vesting with all the shares available, Gage left for France last week. Evidence in the one-man corporation may look forward to dividends of oil, water, coffee or sketches on his return.

Gage is the originator of "Kreis Sculping," which now, with the help of the legal, financial and social support of A.C.P., is "The Lyceum," its medium was sold at the last Fall, and he has won various prizes in other art forms.

The Yale University swimming team recently won its 31st successive victory in intercollegiate dual-meet competition by beating Harvard, 48-27.

Chapel Questionnaire
The response tendered the chapel questionnaire has been far from complete. As THE BARDIAN is anxious to publish results and present student opinions on this matter, it is requested that all questionnaires be returned shortly. In the event that individual students find that they cannot honestly answer some of the questions either because of ambiguous wording or religious conviction, it is further requested that they submit answers only to questions 1 and 11 retaining directly to the issue of compulsory chapel attendance.

Deceased Professor Had Interesting Career
Musicians throughout the country have praised him repeatedly for his work among the unemployed. He said that his efforts in this line were in gratitude to the American Quakers who helped him to come to this country in 1914 when he was stranded in London and regarded as an enemy alien. At that time a Quaker said in comment on his playing:
"This is indeed a musician and so will get [sic] to America."
Mr. Harnati was an American musician residing in Berlin, Germany, in 1917. He was a member of the Beethoven Society for Contemporary Music at Frankfurt, Germany, in 1927.

"Baloney" Says Butler But Not Nicholas
"Baloney," declares Smokey Burlington Butler, is what anti-war striking amounts to. "The only way," he declares, "is to put the fear of God into the hearts of your bloody congressmen.
"Organize, sure," he admitted, "but you have to do more than talk. Get out petitions and frighten your senators and your president to death with them. The only thing they fear is public opinion."

Association and of The Bohemians: His widow, the former Miss F. R. Harnati, is now living in New York City, where she married in Darien, Connecticut, in 1910. His father, Morris Harnati, survives him.
