Announcement

The following tentative list for membership in the Contributing Board of THE BARHARD has been drawn up by the Editorial Staff of the paper. Friday, 13th, 11:00 a.m. at the Kenmore Hotel, Poughkeepsie.

With the last fanfare and celebration the last school year has ended. The students have entered a new world. With the approaching semester, the entire campus is in a state of excitement. The new students are eager to explore and discover the hidden gems of the college.

Promotions will go into effect next January 1.

Continued membership on the Contributing Board depends upon the student’s willingness to continue with the paper.

When the student serves on the editorial board, the student will not be eligible for the position of editor. If a student is chosen for the position of editor, he will not be eligible for membership on the editorial board.

A student who is not a member of the editorial board will not be eligible for membership on the editorial board.

OLD COINS FOUND IN PHYSICS LAB.

Recently found out of their offices in the physics laboratory where they had been placed for several years, a number of bronze coins, thought to be of ancient era, have become the subject of an excavation. During the Field Period, Mr. Schulte, under the direction of Mr. Schulte, plans to devote a portion of his time to the excavation.

The coins have an historical value that is not only current, but they also have a historical connection to the city. The city’s history is tied to the coins, and the coins have a connection to the city’s history.

The coins are currently housed in a glass case in the physics lab.

The coins are to be preserved and displayed to the public.

LOUIS W. KONIG INTERFRATERNITY CONGRESS HELD

Functions And Results Of Fraternity Discussion At Syracuse

"Whatever we live up to fraternity criteria, one day are numbered," said John D. Powell, secretary of Delta Epsilon, during a round table conference. "It isn’t the fraternity plans and purposes that are challenged, but the behavior of the individual fraternity men.

Dr. Harry Rogers, president of the Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute and a national fraternity, said fraternity fraternities such as his fraternity are no threat to the community - competitive fraternities - because the fraternity knows the seeds of the problem.

A. LeRoy King, director of men’s activities at Syracuse University, stated the interesting point that fraternity is not the only aspect of fraternity. The fraternity is the main function, helping the student to get a "well-rounded" education.

He said that the fraternity in Syracuse University is open to all students, and that the fraternity is open to all students.

Brooklyn Poly Triumphs 26-18 Over Bard Five

Filinger, Scotti, Pickard Stars In Exciting Game

BY FRANK DONOHUE

Bard lost its third basketball game of the season last night to Brooklyn Polytechnic on the Poly’s court. 26-18. The Brooklyn aggregation averaging six feet two inches in height was much taller than Bard but forced the Red and White some defense puzzles and were not able to get through in the game. Going ahead 5-0 on converted foul shots by Pickard but finally cutted with six points, all goals being long ones from the four foot shot this time by Burnett plus a field goal by Filinger, actually added to the score again but Brooklyn drove away once more with a minority of six. College Break led only by two for a few moments but came back fighting with Filinger scoring four points and Kaye taking over. With the recombination of play in the second half, Bard was dogged on by the end Wailer and Zellinet rolled up 20 points while holding Bard to two, both foul shots, one scored by Scotti and the other by Kaye, both on scoring after years of scoring.

The college monopoly on scoring was broken by Filinger who scored three points, a steal and a basket in the last two minutes.

VARSIETY DEBATEES ON SOUTHERN TOUR

The Art department is indeed to be congratulated on the Exhibitions now hanging in Orient Gallery. The work as a whole is obviously that of persons trying to accomplish a definite end in their medium—rather than a student performance. There are fewer such 'studio' the students are now presenting as complete.

Watercolors from the largest group—and are characterized by a strong feeling for the colors. It gives the visitor a pleasant sense of being part of the Exhibition to recognize bits of the scene. Messrs. Blevins and Blevins tie for the honors in this group, with works representing quite diverse subjects. Messrs. Blevins' 'Kingston Waterfront' is a rich transparent color, marvelously effective shadows, and water that is actively wet. Mr. Blevins' watercolor is a little more styled, treating the color rather in the manner of oils—the feeling of surfaces instead of transparent watercolor. He has a feeling for design that would make his work outstanding even if he didn't have the same color sense. Messrs. Bartlett and Chapman offer another contrast. The first dealing in fairly tight color and a style close to representation, while Mr. Bartlett is more interested in the texture to produce his effects. Peter-Paul Muller has a 'Red Stove' done in poster style, and a 'Water- front Scene' showing sensitive relationship of forms and expressed feeling for the subject as a whole. Mr. Muller's work is carried out in a color that might well be a study for a mural. The splendid central figure and the fine distinction makes it a work of power and beauty.

To say that Mr. Hare's photography is of professional quality is to give him but faint praise. It is about as fine a use of the lens as the art itself can show. Mr. Hare also has some excellent work—his textbook is a good one. There is in no sense a comparison to be drawn between this and photography for one uses a small camera and the other the large plate style. Mr. Hare's work is a challenge to mount the small original print along with the photographs.

There are two but two presenting oils. Mr. Haffeld shows a marine near abstraction which has a fine sense of color balance — in which he includes the frames. Mr. Kritzer seems to be more interested in the details of his 'Portrait of Babe' and the 'Birds'. He can be found in a painting a good one.

Drawing and Sculpture are the remaining offerings. Mr. Leshberger has a sketch of a Buddha which is concerned with presenting the subject in a larger-than-life form.
FACULTY NEWS

The faculty and have reading period projects
Dr. and Mrs. Edwards will vacation in Florida, where Dr. Edwards plans to spend most of his time swimming, his favorite sport. Dr. Davidson will travel through Virginia and Tennessee to visit a number of friends whom he has not seen in the past. He will also have the opportunity to see the country in person, he says. "Since these colleges will be in session in June, I can study their teaching methods." Dr. and Frances Upton will also be in Virginia for a few weeks visiting relatives. Dr. Carpenter left December eighteenth for Florida to study evolution through observation of the gibbon. Dr. and Mrs. Smith will visit winter months for African studies. Dr. and Mrs. Williams are coming back to College in February headed with sketches from Mexico and the Central American countries.

Mr. Fitch will spend the field period at Woodstock working at life drawing under Horace Crater. Mr. Crater is a member of the American Society of Painters, Sculptors, and Engravers and is represented in many notable art collections throughout the United States, among them the Whitney Museum in New York City. He has studied in France and Germany, and is widely known as an authority on art and media. Under the auspices of the Fund for the Arts Mr. Crater recently made a complete survey of methods and art materials used in the teaching of art.

Dr. Summer's will carry on research in the Harvard laboratories. Dr. Orthwax at Bryn Mawr, Mr. Gomme, and Mr. Voumier will spend the month reading and writing. Mr. Quality will be in New York City working on his book on Norwegian immigration to the United States which will be published. He believes, sometime this spring, by the Norwegian-American League.

Mr. Quaife will also be in New York City working with eleven boys in visiting rehearsals of Broadway productions, "sitting" behind "blocking hands" working with Columbia University under the direction of Milton Smith on Earl Hull's fame. There is a slight possibility that "Escape From Glory" will be taken to the Chicago and St. Louis, where he is to be at the Chicago Playhouse, with Mrs. Smith's home. While there, they plan to make extensive automobile trips through South Africa, and visit such places as Victoria Falls and the Kruger National Park.

SMITHS TO SAIL ON AFRICAN TRIP

Dr. and Mrs. Smith are leaving from New York on January seventh on the Franchomme of the Cunard Line for a six-month vacation which will take them to South America, Africa, Asia, and Europe. They will travel on the Franchomme until they reach Cape Town, and then stop at Trinidad, Bahia, Rio de Janeiro, and St. Helena on the way. They will spend about six months in South Africa, much of the time at Johannesburg in Transvaal which is Mrs. Smith's home. While there, they plan to make extensive automobile trips through South Africa, and visit such places as Victoria Falls and the Kruger National Park.

BACH ORATORIO GIVEN IN CHAPEL

Last Sunday evening the Bach Christmas Oratorio (Flute and Oboe) was performed by the chorus in the chapel, the augmented orchestra under the direction of Mr. Shaw. The work was done under the very able direction of Ernest White. Hard is fortunate in having an organization capable of performing a work of such magnitude. The presentation of music today is in great part hindered by the spirit and cooperation that is so often lacking among non-professionals. The solo parts were sung by Miss Caperton, soprano, Miss Evelyn Steenman, contralto, Mr. Edvard Fothergill, tenor, and Mr. Roy Block, bass. It was refreshing to hear this great work performed with the vitality and understanding which are the hallmark of the Christmas season.

Between parts one and two of Mr. White, accompanied by the organists, played the Handel Organ Concerto No. 5 in F major.
