SEVERAL DEBATES TO BE PRESENTED BY BARD FORUM

Allegheu and Columbia Teams Listed for Home Debates

The following is the schedule for the series of debates to be presented by Bard College and Columbia University. Both teams are expected to present debates on a variety of political, social, and philosophical issues. The exact topics are not yet announced.

FIRST LOCAL SHAKESPEARE PRODUCTION SET FOR EARLY MARCH

From March eighth through this twelfth, the Bard Theatre will give a shortened version of the play's principal scenes. The cast will be entirely non-professional, but the play will make the acting of the student body highly effective.

One reason for giving Cymbeline was the success in the two recent shows of Falstaff and San Diego of shortages of certain versions by Thomas Wood of some of Shakespeare's plays. These were immediately popular and some fast performances, including the part of Falstaff by entering students, were recorded in the national tour of Cymbeline over the first two weeks of the season.

The production of Cymbeline will be directed by Sir Robert Gouge, and the directors will be Mr. and Mrs. Jeter, respectively. This will be the second time this season that Mr. Gouge has directed at the theatre. The cast will be made up of students and members of the faculty. The teams will present one of the scenes from the play.

A REHABILITATION SOON

Removal of the college theatre will begin next week, as is to be expected, as the result of the suspension of Cymbeline on March eighteenth. The exact nature of this week's production is not yet determined, but it is certain that the windows will be changed, the scenery revised, and the costumes painted a "warmer" color. Another change in the theatre since it was remodeled in the winter of 1930-31 is the department changed a defunct of the stage as we know it now.

THE LIBRARY CILLS IN CIRCULATION

The circulation figures of the library for the fiscal year show a notable increase over corresponding years. An average number of books taken out by students for the courses of the semesters was considerably lower than in previous years. In the second semester the circulation figures show an improvement as those of the first semester were not taken out by students during the summer. The average number of books from 40 to 60 is considered.

REUNION DINNER HELD LAST NIGHT

On Thursday, January nineteenth, the Bard-Bar, Stephen's Alumni Reunion Dinner was held at the Coburg Hotel. The gathering consisted of the alumni from the college for the main events of the evening. The Secretary of the Board of Trustees addressed the diners. He spoke on the progress of the college during the past year. Following the table was a brief discussion of the means by which the alumni can become more interested in the college in the future. At the end of the program, music was played by the students.

UNION ISSUE CAUSES SPLIT IN CAMPUS CO-OPE MOVEMENT

All agree In Advocacy Of Fast Growing Movement

Reigning the invasion of cooperative businesses on the campus and the rise of a movement to strengthen the financial strength of the cooperative societies, the members of the Bard College Co-op Movement have agreed to the desirability of a local cooperative store, but not to the financial arrangements which would be most suitable.

There are three separate groups of students who have three separate cooperatives of one kind or another. The exact nature of the situation is that the students are not aware of the fact that they have these cooperatives. They are unable to establish a local cooperative because they are not able to get the necessary number of students to join in and support the project.

The first group is the students who have three separate cooperatives of one kind or another. They are unable to get the necessary number of students to join in and support the project. The second group is the students who have a cooperative society that is not a five- to seven-member business but is a twenty- to thirty-five-member union. The third group is the students who have a cooperative society that is not a five- to seven-member business but is a twenty- to thirty-five-member union.
DARTMOUTH GIVES COURSE ON WAR

Nature and Costs of War and Means of Peace to be Studied

Hanover, N. H. (AP) — War had put its appearance on the extra curricular program of Dartmouth College.

Some 350 students who have been admitted to the course announced that certain members of the Dartmouth faculty — not the college itself — have organized a course that deals with the various phases of conflict.

Professor W. B. Knight, sponsor of the new course, has announced that the series of eighteen evening meetings is open, with an aim to appeal to anyone who wishes to enlist. Many out-of-town listeners who have agreed to learn more about war.

"No college, so far as I know," said Prof. K. A., dean of war on this course. A teacher in this department knows something about the war and may be the part immediate to his own.

"This is a study of war, not a choice of continuing education in the ways to avoid it. We have our reservations that the war will be the war which is out of course. Nevertheless, we have found it to be useful in doing the work with college credit and enough teachers to present it in addition to their regular work.

"The whole thing is roughly divided, thus far, into the nature of war along various fronts,enny illustrates that the war is economic, cultural, and educational. The course is not on the study of war, but is on serving peace to reflect the leading cause of the course."

UNION ISSUE CAUSES DRC OP-PRO-MOVT

When the students met, they questioned the course by demanding more opportunities for unionists. However, the students were not pleased with the course. The course, it seems, is not on the study of war, but is on serving peace to reflect the leading cause of the course.

Co-operatives at Dartmouth and Los Angeles

The students at Dartmouth are the first to organize a co-operative group. Some of the students are those who have not made any such plans for the organization of the group. It is expected that the project will go on in some way be tied with the student union projects in forthcoming years. During this time, the course, in its own way, has been covering two aspects of Dutsch County, which will work with the benefit of the same survey.

Four men from the group are focusing on the opening of a restaurant in New York City.

The Red Coach Tavern is the first local dispensary of fine wines and liquor which fact, however, casts no aspersions on the excellent cooking and pleasant atmosphere. DARSON WYLIE

WILLIAMS WORKS CHOOSE FOR SHOW

One of Mr. Williams' water colors, "Waiting to Bull, Nassau," has been selected for the Chicago Businessmen's show and is one of the highest honors that a water colorist who has been at the United States with the art for being represented by a single water colorist from the first artist in the world in this particular medium.

The picture was selected from one of which Mr. Williams exhibits under the auspices of the American Art League of New York. "Yes, it is true," he told the Chicago Businessmen, "but the picture is not for sale, but they say before the sale, that as soon as they realized no Harvard man had enough history to know what they were talking about," said Mr. Williams.

NEW COLLEGE FORMS SOCIETY ON ECONOMICS

New York, N. Y. (AP) — In order to deal more fully with legal, political, and economic problems that arise in society, the American Law Business College, has been formed from six eastern law schools.

Institution representatives are California, Columbia, Empire, New York University, New York University Law School and New York University Law School.

Chief topic of interest for its members is the economic dilemma that will be barriers for them as law students and young lawyers. Whatever, no definite word was given on minimum wages for law students.

The group has voted in favor of seeking adequate steps in cooperation with its association, legal businesses, and other groups, to improve the economic well-being of law students, law clerks, and others.

Memorial service is to be held on Friday, in the northeast area but eventually it will be held on a complete all of the above.

DEBATERS MEET SOUTHERN TEAMS

Reports On Other Field Work Period Project

During a trip through the South- ern part of the United States, a number of college students from some fifteen thousand miles and de- dicated to the project, they finally met at the University of Georgia, Athens, Georgia, where the National Debate Association was holding its annual convention. The team from the Southern part of the country was composed of students from the University of Georgia, the University of Alabama, the University of Tennessee, the University of Florida, and the University of South Carolina.

The team from the North was composed of students from the University of Pennsylvania, the University of Michigan, the University of Chicago, the University of Minnesota, and the University of Wisconsin.

The debate was held in the University of Georgia's auditorium, and was attended by a large audience.

The North-South debate was a highly competitive and well-attended event, with both teams displaying their skills and knowledge in an effort to gain the upper hand.

The North-South debate was the first of a series of debates that would take place throughout the year, and it was widely regarded as one of the most exciting and well-attended events of the academic year.

Herbert Marshall says:

"...a light smoke is a joy to the throat"

Before I came over to this country an English cigarette appealed to me because it was firmly packed. In America I tried various popular brands looking for the same sense of virility. Lucky Strike led all the rest. And what's more — I soon discovered that Lucky were a light smoke and a positive joy to the throat.

HERBERT MARSHALL

FAMOUS RKO RADIO PICTURES' STAR

AN INDEPENDENT SURVEY WAS MADE RECENTLY AMONG PROFESSIONAL MEN AND WOMEN—LAWYERS, DOCTORS, LEKTORS, SCIENTISTS, ETC. OF THOSE WHO SAID THEY SMOKE CIGARETTES, 87% STATED THEY PERSONALLY PREFER A LIGHT SMOKE.

Mr. Marshall verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen, and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat!

THE FINEST TOBACCO—
"THE CREAM OF THE CROP" MONEY AND THE FORUM...

There seems to be little doubt that the Forum is now the liveliest and most promising of the college's organizations. For the past year many people have been carrying on and, for the most part, carrying away quite well. But now, with larger institution has been congenial for the singularly, the Forum has faced up to this fact and instead of asking them if they don't know how the annual war on the granting of convocation funds to end, the Forum would now be asking us, "Are we making any really valuable contributions to the outside world? Are we doing the best we can?"

This has done more than any other group to bring about an end to the laissez-faire attitude of the college. This is indeed a problem in a college without a large budget and a bunch of busy seniors hired to get publicity via the gridiron. The name of Bard is far from a household word in this country, but if it ever does become one we will have the Forum to thank in large part.

I was particularly interested in that part of Kuehn's speech in which he told of the death of boarders and the long-lasting effects of their loss. There is no doubt that the Forum in at least, which is a very important event in the life of every student, should be fought for just as hard as the war.

The two conventions are, I think, our most important events of the year. And I believe that we should do everything we can to make them successful.

The two conventions are, I think, our most important events of the year. And I believe that we should do everything we can to make them successful.

Communications

To the Editor of The Bardian:

After completing a highly successful and rewarding two-year term as the assistant editor of The Bardian, I would like to sincerely thank all of the students, faculty, and staff who have supported and contributed to the success of the newspaper during my tenure. It has been an honor and a privilege to be a part of such a dedicated and talented team, and I look forward to seeing the continued growth and success of The Bardian in the years to come.

Sincerely,

Adam Smith

SPORTS

The Hawk

SHEARP

BASKETBALL

Last Tuesday evening a hard basketball game was played, in which the Hawk girls staged a "five in a row" in mortal combat for the last three times in three years, and thus furnished a startling exception to that old adage: "The Hawk girls lose, the hawk girls win." It is inevitable that all teams suffer a major upset at some time or another, as our basketball girls did in Hattiesburg. Before this title, the team had accumulated 100 points in three victories against 40 points for the other teams. This time the Hawks came by a total margin of thirteen points. Following these impressive exhibitions, the 15-18 defeat of the Tigers can usually be excused. The policy of this column has always been one of making amendments to the giving of credit, but the Hawks are due. Team was undoubtedly the stronger on their own court, but several factors were responsible for the defeat. No. 10 Scott's scramble was badly set before he entered the game, and No. 10 simply had to leave the game twice, and probably would not have been able to reach the second half of the game without the same dilemma. The Trinity girls in the second half, giving the loons scoring and constant confusion themselves.

A collection of ball players and a few alumni members of the Hawk team for the first time in the new season's game

Not only did the game improve the ball players but also the alumni members' participation. Although the most important thing for the team was to be warmed up for the game next season, the alumni members were quite eager to participate. The game was well played, and the alumni members were very supportive of the new players.

The trimming of the alumni members' skills was well appreciated by the alumni members. The game ended with an alumni member scoring the last point.

Dr. Harold Mestres, formerly enlisted in research at the Yale School of Medicine, will act as head of the Department of Psychology in the absence of Dr. C. Lepper, who is now away on leave. Dr. Mestres took work in chemistry at Columbia University and later in Zoology at the University of California. He received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy from Stanford University in 1938.

While in California, Dr. Mestres was appointed assistant professor of biochemistry as the staff of the Jacqueline Moore Laboratory of the Hoechst Company. Since 1939, Dr. Mestres has been associated with the research group at the university.

In order to fulfill the demands of the biological laboratories, Dr. Mestres was asked to prepare a series of photometric methods. Under a grant from the Rockefeller Foundation, he confirmed this work at the Yale School of Medicine in New Haven.

Dr. Mestres also did work in a quantitative study of photo-chemi-ical phenomena in living organisms while working at the Biological Laboratory, Cold Spring Harbor, Long Island. His particular field had been in research on the biological aspects of the adaptation of phase-photometry and other methods of biochemistry to the study of physiological problems.

This has led to a major interest in the study of photosynthesis in living organisms with particular emphasis on the photochemical mechanisms involved.

one in competition.

The deaths were on the follow-several schools: 14 sandlot, 17, athletic clubs, 16, and colleges.
Most of the most casualties were not affiliated with the figures.

During the convention, jour-nereyed Robert Cailor of the Ohio State University, told a story of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Conference that athletes should not be kept from participating in sports because they are in the world's goods.

"As soon as we let people hope that our colleges and universities will put their athletes on the same equal footing as the other educational departments and will finance them and assist them, we are ready to give in.

In Tennessee, Alabama, the situation is the same. The president had to make the decision, the president had to make the decision.
He had to make the decision.
He had to make the decision.
