Trustees Alter Adopted Plans for Co-op Store:
New College Store to Give Ten Percent Rebate, Allow Credit

Six Bardians Attend Square Dance in Upper Red Hook: Local Students Trounced by Red Hook Natives in Provincial Marshmallow-Barrel Relay

A.S.U. Has First Meeting of Year, Explaining Ideals: Bard Chapter to Promote Annual Peace Strike in Spring

37 Men Report for Fall Sports: Eight New Men Join Harriers; Five for Soccer

New Instructors Represent Many Fields of Study New Men in Philosophy, Economics, Science, Fine Arts

Four Freshman Chosen as John Bard Scholars Formal Dinner Begins Academic Year 1937-38 Hawkes, Koenig, Greet New Men

To the Editor
By Harold Mestre
Bardians Visit Foreign Shores
France, England Popular with Local Tourists This Summer

Embryonic Crew Has First Practice on the Hudson River: Week-end Row, However, Proves Unfortunate for William Jordy, who Capsizes in Mid-Stream Editorial: Bard and Progress . . . .

Editorial: Britain Blunders Forth . . . .
Looking Around
By William Jordy
With the Squad
By Jim Magee

Zellweger Matilda Substitutes in Niche Made for St. Stephen Summers Teaching at Cornell Med. Center

Freshman Beware!
Freshman Take Care!
Trade From Co-Op Dealers
Boothers, Harriers to Open Fall Sports Season Oct. 2 Six Games Listed for Soccer Season From the Coach
George "Ackie" Ackerman Runners Start Vs. Wesleyan; Annual Interscholastic Meet Oct. 23rd

Forum Activities Begin Next Week With Organizing
Property Bought by Board of Trustees
C. Ray Carpenter Returns to Bard
New Students of Year 1937-38
TRUSTEES ALTER ADOPTED PLANS FOR CO-OP STORE

New College Store To Give Ten Percent Rebate, Allow Credit

New College Store to Give Ten Percent Rebate, Allow Credit

Operating as a non-profit enterprise, the store had engaged in its dependent operations for several years. The store is run by students who wish to participate in its inde-dependent operations. Fifty percent of the store's profits have already been returned to the student body.

On June 31, 1937, the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees reviewed all income and operations cased in student earnings, and at the request of the students, the store was allowed to operate as a co-operative store for the fall term.

For five dollars, any member of the college community may purchase a membership in the store. Membership funds will be deposited with the store's Capital and, in addition, will be used for the purchase of the store's inventory or, if not required for the purchase of the store's inventory, will be refunded.

In one respect the store will be like most stores. Students and faculty who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal and, who do not care to open an account in Red Bank may deposit the money in the store. Small withdrawals may be made by members of the store, and a member's account must be notified in advance of large withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store cataloged for the campus, and student purposes will be included in the total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.

In one respect the store will be

like most stores. Students and faculty
who have more money than they

plan to spend on their personal

and, who do not care to open an

account in Red Bank may deposit the

money in the store. Small withdrawals
may be made by members of the

store, and a member's account

must be notified in advance of large

withdrawals. The store's Capital

Purposes funds will be used

for the purchase of the store's

inventory.

In another respect the store

will be different. A store

cataloged for the campus, and student

purposes will be included in the

total purchases of the store.
BARD AND PROGRESS . . . .

The signs of progress are elusive. They are everywhere, yet nowhere to be found. This year marks the attainment of some significant milestone that has been long awaited and only now, after so many years, does it seem to have reached its inevitable conclusion. The signs are everywhere, yet nowhere to be found.

Not all of Bard College in the next few years. The last few years have been so hard, so hard to imagine that in the next few years we will see some signs of progress. The signs are everywhere, yet nowhere to be found.

The signs of progress are elusive. They are everywhere, but nowhere to be found. This year marks the attainment of some significant milestone that has been long awaited and only now, after so many years, does it seem to have reached its inevitable conclusion. The signs are everywhere, yet nowhere to be found.

- - - - -

BRITISH BLINDNESS FORTHER-

VITTLE's usual lack of foresight, Great Britain has only broken up a scheme only to be allowed itself to fend for itself in an international crisis of some degree. However, no matter how much the International Spanish War will be long remembered, Britain has taken it upon itself, at any cost, to remain in Spain and remain in Italy, although the rebels already seems to have won both the diplomatic and religious fronts. Having strengthened the German and Italian positions in the Mediterranean and having received pupil recognition.

The facts of the British Foreign Policy may be gleaned from Prime Minister Chamberlain's "friendly" relations with the German leaders. There are two likely reasons for this change, namely, British leaders believe that these relations are likely to be the basis of a British-Italian alliance.

The two main reasons for Britain's change in attitude, however, are the new trade routes through the Mediterranean. Independent, however, British relations can now become as strong in Russia as they were at the time of the first World War, and the German and Italian positions in the Mediterranean and having received pupil recognition.

The facts of the British Foreign Policy may be gleaned from Prime Minister Chamberlain's "friendly" relations with the German leaders. There are two likely reasons for this change, namely, British leaders believe that these relations are likely to be the basis of a British-Italian alliance.

The two main reasons for Britain's change in attitude, however, are the new trade routes through the Mediterranean. Independent, however, British relations can now become as strong in Russia as they were at the time of the first World War, and the German and Italian positions in the Mediterranean and having received pupil recognition.

The facts of the British Foreign Policy may be gleaned from Prime Minister Chamberlain's "friendly" relations with the German leaders. There are two likely reasons for this change, namely, British leaders believe that these relations are likely to be the basis of a British-Italian alliance.

The two main reasons for Britain's change in attitude, however, are the new trade routes through the Mediterranean. Independent, however, British relations can now become as strong in Russia as they were at the time of the first World War, and the German and Italian positions in the Mediterranean and having received pupil recognition.
Venezue me voir dans la cruche de pierre.
FORUM ACTIVITIES BEGIN NEXT WEEK WITH ORGANIZING

The Forum, Bard’s debating organization, will begin its activities next week, according to its president, Henry Baker, with a meeting which will be open to any man on campus interested in debating.

In a recent statement, Mr. Baker said, “As an excellent opportunity exists for the members of the Freshman Forum, and those from the upper classes, to speak, from these groups are interested in debating and are strongly urged to attend this meeting.”

Tentative plans include debates with Columbia and Colgate, with whom contacts have already been made, and with Barnard of Columbia University, one of the Forum’s new adversaries. Plans for the customary conference with Bennington on the growth and development of progressive education at our respective colleges will go forward as usual.

“It is hoped,” Mr. Baker said, “that a large and interesting number of debates on a variety of subjects not confined to economic and social subjects can be arranged.”

PROPERTY BOUGHT BY BOARD OF TRUSTEES

The college trustees have exercised their option to buy six acres of land from Mr. Kersey Lewis. The college now owns all of the frontage on Route 9-D from the Tarrytown line to the River Road and is protected from further development along the highway.

With this property, the college has also acquired the “Lewis Cottage,” in which the kitchen staff lives, and a large apple picking shed which will be torn down and the materials used for the new Buildings and Grounds Shop and the stone cutting studio.

Five Bardians Visit European Counties

(Continued from page 1)

visited the new excavation at Carrara and at Rome. During the trip he noticed that the apprehension concerning the war in Spain was much more evident in Europe than in America. At Gibraltar particularly, the tension was almost too much for us newspaper editors to imagine. Before the students left this country on July first for a twenty-day cruise on the S. S. Neva, she visited British Guiana, Virgin Islands, Trinidad, Martinique, and Guadeloupe. The first things she saw on her arrival in the Virgin Islands were W. P. A. built homes. Just to make one feel at home!

C. RAY CARPENTER RETURNS TO BARD

Psychologist Continues His Work Here, Concludes Research In Siam

Dr. C. Ray Carpenter has returned from the jungles of Siam after a semester’s leave during which he studied the private life of the Chinese in its native habitat, for the purpose of tracing more fully the evolution of this species.

The experience opened up only a narrow path from the scientific viewpoint, and in expressing his adventure, Dr. Carpenter tells us: “Because the natives are Mohammedans, whose religion teaches that the current way for the devil to reach Heaven is through the murderer of a Christian, it was necessary for Dr. Carpenter and his party to be on constant guard, and, for most of the time, to be accompanied by a military party.”

Carpenter was financed by the Carnegie Institution, the Milton and Everett Ponds of Bardow, the Columbia University Council for Research in Social Sciences and various private donors.

Of the six thousand feet of motion pictures that were taken, Dr. Carpenter has offered to show to the college the most interesting aspects some time in the near future.

Here it is

Tobacco — world famous for aroma and fragrance — no other tobacco like it on earth. The import duty alone is 30 a pound.

Chesterfield goes half way around the world to get these fine Turkish tobaccos to add their spicy flavor to the best mild ripe tobaccos of our own South.

From far and near — at great expense — Chesterfield selects these mild ripe aromatic tobaccos to give smokers just one thing — MORE PLEASURE.

Milder Better Tasting

...because they’re made of MILD RIPE tobaccos

Chesterfield

...they’ll give you MORE PLEASURE