Dr. Tewksbury Commences Work At Saint Stephen's

Rev. Miles L. Yates
Appointed Chaplain; Four Others
Assume Positions

On May 26, 1933, President Butler nominated Donald George Tewksbury, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., then Associate Professor of Education at Columbia University, to be Acting Dean of the Faculty of St. Stephen's College for one year from July 1, 1933. The Trustees of the College promptly elected Dean Tewksbury on this nomination, and he made his home at Annandale on the 1st of July, last.

Professor Tewksbury was a member of the Committee of Nine appointed by Dr. Butler early last winter to study the administrative and educational problems of St. Stephen's and so already has a fund of information regarding the work which he is called upon to administer. He was born in Peiping, China, in 1894, and was educated there and in the United States. He was married to Miss Helen Taylor Plumb, of Bridgeport, Conn., in 1921, and has one son.

Dean Tewksbury has had a varied experience in educational administration. After spending two years at Oberlin College, Ohio, he was graduated from Columbia College with the class of 1920, and proceeded to take his Master of Arts degree the following year. From 1922 to 1927 he was Assistant Professor and Registrar at Yenching University, Peiping, China, and while there, and later in Nanking, he made a special study of Chinese language and culture. In 1932 he was awarded the degree of Doctor of Philosophy by Columbia University.

In addition to being associate professor of the History of Education at Columbia, the new head of St. Stephen's has, since 1928, lectured on Far Eastern Civilization and Culture at Sarah Lawrence College, Bronxville, New York. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, a Fellow of the National Council on Religion in Higher Education, and author of "The Founding of American Colleges and Universities before the Civil War."

The Rev. Miles Lowell Yates of Cooperstown, N. Y., has been appointed Chaplain and Professor of Religion in St. Stephen's College, Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., it was announced recently by the Trustees of the College.

The Rev. Mr. Yates has been, for the past fifteen years, Rector of Christ Church, Cooperstown, N. Y., in the Diocese of Albany, of which the Rt. Rev. G. Ashton Oldham, D. D., is bishop. He received the bachelor of arts degree from the General Theological Seminary, New York City, in 1917.

The Rev. Mr. Yates was ordained priest by the Rt. Rev. Richard H. Nelson, Bishop of Albany, in the Cathedral of All Saints, Albany, in 1915. His first rectorship was Holy Cross Church, Fort Plain, N. Y., where he served from 1914 to 1917. He was fellow and tutor in the department of New Testament at the Seminary in 1917-1918.

St. Stephen's Ties Williams Eleven

Brooklyn College Downed In Season's Second Game

The St. Stephen's College soccer team played the Williams eleven to a scoreless tie in the opening game of the season on Zabriskie field on October 7.

A ten minute overtime period failed to produce a score, after eighty-eight minutes of bitter struggle on the part of both teams. The play was spirited and breathless throughout. The Williams' offense, although speedier than that of the Scarlet, could not penetrate the superior defense of the latter. St. Stephen's, endeavoring to avenge the two 2-1 defeats administered by the Purple in the last two meetings of their teams, gave their opponents a battle yard for yard which threatened danger for the visitors every minute.

In their first start the Saints gave every indication that Coach Leeke has drawn together an aggregation which shows promise of having a successful season. The play of Captain Jack Keppler of St. Stephen's, both on the offense and defense was one of the bright spots of the game. Time and time again he boosted the ball to safety, when the Williams' forward line seemed destined to break through for a score which would send them home with victory. Brady at right half played a remarkably consistent game despite the fact that he received a bad leg injury early in the contest. Marty Goldstein, starting his third season as goalie for the Scarlet, displayed the same outstanding work which has been so characteristic of him in the cage during past seasons. Oustinnoff showed all his old tricks and good play at right wing. Burgevin at center was untiring in his efforts to push the ball into the opposing net. The kicking of Frost and Clark, fullbacks, averaged many yards. Herbie Dienst, at halfback, gave a fine exhibition of team play

From The Dean

It is a source of real gratification to all members of the college community that the Lyre Tree renews its publication with this issue. An able and constructive student paper will contribute immeasurably to the welfare of the college. As a medium for the expression of student opinion, it will reflect the interests and ideals of the student body. As an organ of responsible leadership, it will help shape the future of the institution. The Editors of the Lyre Tree are to be congratulated upon their initiative and resourcefulness in meeting the challenge of a new opportunity.

Chapel Attendance Rule Is Modified

Adjusted Program Effected By Dean and Trustees

A radical change in the policy of student attendance at chapel services at St. Stephen's College was announced last week by Dean Donald G. Tewksbury and Chaplain Miles Lowell Yates, after they had spent much time in consideration of the plan of religious observance, which has been in effect at the college in the past.

The purpose of the change and the reasons for the same, which went into effect on October 9, are explained in the following statement issued from the Dean's Office:

"In order to provide a program of religious observances which will secure a balance between expected and voluntary attendance, and at the same time continue the essential features of the long and honored tradition of the college, three services will be designated from among the regular services held each week as religious exercises having a special claim to general community observance. This adjusted program for 1933-34 was formulated with the concurrent approval of the Dean and the Committee of Seven of the Board of Trustees, after conference with members of the faculty and of the student body. It becomes effective Monday, October 9, 1933.

"I. Attendance of the whole college at:

"1. The 10.30 service, each Sunday, as the chief religious gathering of the week. (The first Sunday service of each semester will be held at 11.00 A. M.)

1933 Pledging Rules Issued By Council

The Pan Hellenic Council, inactive last year following the resignation of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, was reorganized by the Euxian Fraternity and Kappa Gamma Chi at a recent meeting.

The Council formally agreed upon the following rules regarding the pledging of new men:

1. Bids shall be placed in the mail boxes at midnight of November 15, 1933.

2. No member of a fraternity shall enter into conversation with any new man between the hour of midnight, November 15, 1933, and 9 P. M. of November 16, 1933.

3. Accepted bids shall be returned to the secretary of the Pan Hellenic Council in the Student Recreation Room between 8 P. M. and 9 P. M. of November 16.

St. Stephen's Makes Change In Classics Requirements

102 Men Register For Opening Term

Much Activity On Campus In First Few Weeks

St. Stephen's College opened its doors for the academic year 1933-1934 with one hundred and two students. Forty-six new men enrolled. The Student Body is larger than planned for in the budget drawn up by the Board of the Trustees and beyond the expectations of the committees on entrances.

The following professors constitute the faculty for the year: Dr. Donald G. Tewksbury, Associate Professor of Education and Acting Dean of the Faculty; Dr. Upton, Registrar, and Mr. Voorhees, English; Drs. Phalen and Garabedian, Mathematics; Drs. Flournoy and Smith, History; Dr. Davidson, Latin; Dr. Harry, Greek; Dr. Krumpelmann and Mr. Corti, Modern Languages; Dr. Edwards, Economics and Social Sciences; Dr. Yates, Chaplain of the College and Professor of Religion; Mr. Mauzey, Philosophy and Psychology; Dr. Obreshkove, Biology; Dr. Sottery, Chemistry; and Mr. Leeke, Physical Education. N. R. A. Is Stirring Youth Says Sweet

Governor of Colorado Calls Americans Indifferent

The National Recovery Act of the Roosevelt Administration is stirring up movements among American students, long almost indifferent toward politics and national affairs, Governor William A. Sweet of Colorado asserted in a lecture at St. Stephen's College on October 4.

"Many foreign countries are indebted to their student populations for the betterment of their government and cultural life, which has occurred in the last two decades," the Governor stated, citing the vigorous student movements in China, Japan, Cuba and Russia as good examples. Trying hard not to condemn American undergraduates too much, he noted the spasmodic action here in regard to the League of Nations and its dilatory performances.

The NRA is, however, stirring up movements among students as nothing has ever done in America before. Colleges are scheduling courses for the sole purpose of making an exhaustive study of this new phase of the American drama. "This move can be proposed without the charge of propaganda," Governor Sweet declared.

"It is fortunate that the students have been in an outside position, as it were, looking in on this awful spectacle of 'a real depression,' for now they can go into the world with a knowledge of the pitfalls which we should avoid in order to prevent another such catastrophe."

Governor Sweet pleaded for "open-mindedness in undergraduates. In closing he added: "If we would lead by the light of wisdom, we must let our minds be bold."

Students With Appropriate Background May Drop Ancient Languages

Two New Courses Offered In Drama and Music

Traditional Latin and Greek requirements for graduation have been dropped at St. Stephen's College, long one of the most rigid American classical colleges. Beginning this year students entering the college with appropriate background in the ancient languages will not be required to take further courses in Latin and Greek.

This change in policy, effected by the trustees of St. Stephen's, does not lessen the opportunities offered the student in the field of classical languages. Courses in Greek and Latin will continue to be offered to all students desirous of electing the same. Students preparing for certain professions, moreover, will still wish to take a full program in the classical subjects.

New courses will be given in musical appreciation, the interpretation of poetry, classical civilization, modern economic problems, and far eastern civilization and culture. In addition, arrangements have been made for elective work in dramatics, in the practical arts, in choral and instrumental music and in the graphic arts, under the supervision of resident and invited instructors.

The course in dramatics embraces a broad field touching upon nearly all of the creative and practical arts. Educational leaders realize that such a course has an appeal from the literary point of view and that of self expression. Many colleges have come to realize that there is a force at work which necessitates the admission of a course of this character in the college curriculum. The course as offered at St. Stephen's indicates that this subject is a series of arts. The students taking this course will study the practical side of the field in that they will design theatres, study the best methods of seating and all other aspects of this phase of the theater. Stage craft will be an integral part of the subject matter.

This year two major productions will be produced and also several minor ones. In producing the plays the students will do the entire work themselves which includes costume designing, and the making of the scenery used in the productions. The students will also study the management of the theater and conduct their own publicity.

The new music appreciation course was announced as a course in the materials and methods of music as an aid toward discriminative listening and intelligent appreciation of music. The course consists of lectures, analysis of representative masterpieces, presentations by piano, radio and victrola. There is an adequate supply of records and scores which are available for the private use of the students taking the course. The classes are held in the east room of Bard Hall, which was obtained through special permission from the alumni. The using of these facilities is part of the labors of the course.

THE LYRE TREE

The Lyre Tree appears here in organized form for the first time in over a year. Financial troubles and a general lack of interest in the paper caused a suspension of publication during the last college year except for one issue. Last spring an editorial and business board was chosen from students interested in seeing an undergraduate publication at St. Stephen's again make its appearance. There are many reasons why we would like to see the Lyre Tree put out at regular intervals during the year. One is that a periodical deserves and should be a feature of the extra curricula work of the undergraduate body in any college. It is the means by which the students can express themselves concerning the affairs of their institution. Another is the college needs a newspaper. One of the chief purposes of the new board in their efforts to make the Lyre Tree a success is to carry outside the college, and especially to the Alumni, news of interest of the college which they would not be likely to receive except through these columns. We know that there must be many who have gone forth from this place who are somewhat out of touch with their alma mater. It is for them that we resume publication. St. Stephen's wants to keep the help and interest of her alumni. We believe the Lyre Tree can aid in keeping that interest alive.

The Lyre Tree has several obstacles in its path which must be overcome to assure its success. At the present time we have only funds enough to bring out this first issue. There are difficulties preventing us from obtaining the kind of advertising which would permit us to work free of financial worry. We are forced, if we are to bring this paper out through the year, to rely on subscriptions. We send this first issue to as many alumni as we are able. We hope that many will care to subscribe at the earliest possible moment in order that we may feel free to go ahead with the plans we have already made. The price is small and our hopes high. How about it?

TRADITIONS

The Lyre Tree wishes to extend a welcome to the new men at St. Stephen's and, at the same time, a word of congratulation. We are proud of you; you have given us greater confidence for ourselves and for our college by reason of your making St. Stephen's the college of your choice. You have helped to create a more healthy and spirited tone in an atmosphere that was once, we must confess, quite listless and languidly sentimental. We are happy to have such a group as you cast your lot with ours in the making of a new and finer college.

You have been hearing a great deal of talk about the new deal going on about us. We who have been here before, assure you that it is a new deal. It marks the awakening of this community to the splendid possibilities, never before deemed practical, of a definite type of college. These potentialities are fast becoming realities under the guidance of the present administration of this institution.

St. Stephen's College was founded seventy-three years ago. It is by no means in its adolescent stage. This new atmosphere is not a ripening to manhood; it is a revitalization. We still have with us certain traditions and customs of the school which men who have gone before us have cherished. As we enter into this revitalization wholeheartedly, for it's what the doctor ordered and its going to make us grow, let us just as wholeheartedly observe and cherish ourselves the things which were so dear to our classmates, decades removed.

GREEK TRAGEDY

It is with gratification that we read and hear of the fine and favorable comment which has greeted the first volume of Dr. Joseph E. Harry's "Greek Tragedy," recently issued by the Columbia University Press. Those at St. Stephen's who know Dr. Harry and those who have studied with him cannot help but be pleased with the warm reception of his great work the world over. Elsewhere in these columns a small portion of the praise extended is recorded. We regret that we cannot print it all. Several letters have been received by the Columbia Press from scholars in Europe, among them Dr. W. H. D. Rouse, Professor for Classics at the University of Cambridge, who speaks most highly of the first volume in Dr. Harry's series. It was not to be unexpected that Dr. Harry's work would be an outstanding contribution to Classical literature. We look at the result of his labors with reverence for his scholarship. We congratulate him for the honor the same has brought to him.

CONVOCATION MEETINGS

It was disappointing to note the small attendance of undergraduates at the first meeting of Convocation last Monday evening. It is practically impossible for the officers of Convocation to handle matters dealing with the welfare of the student body unless nearly the whole college is present at the meetings. We urge all students, inasmuch as it is to their advantage, to make a point of attending each and every one.

Dr. Tewksbury Commences Work

In Cooperstown, the Rev. M. Yates has been vice-president of the Susan Fenimore Cooper Foundation, and instructor in English and Chaplain of the School.

In 1927 the Rev. Mr. Yates married Miss Marjorie Elinor Fell Marsh at Norwich, England. Mrs. Yates, an associate of the Royal College of Music, London, has been instructor in music in the Knox School, Cooperstown, since 1923. She has studied under John St. O. Dykes, Katherine Ruth Heyman, Katherine Goodson, and under Henriette Michelson of the Julliard School of Music, New York City. Mrs. Yates has done concert work in this country and in England.

In an interview with a Lyre Tree representative, the new Chaplain made the following statement: "I was strongly attracted to St. Stephen's on my first visit in August. I have been genuinely happy in coming as Chaplain, to share in its life and work, and am deeply appreciative of the kind welcome I have received." Further he said, "I am especially impressed and gratified by,

1. The honored place given to Religion in the college—the devotional tone and beautiful music of the chapel services;
2. The broadening of the program for stressing the creative arts;
3. The opportunities offered in tutorial courses for individual study and research along the lines of a man's major interest;
4. The colleges affiliations with a great university like Columbia, which (in my opinion) is likely to lead increasingly to an association and an interchange of unique value."

In conclusion he said, "I have a firm belief that great possibilities in the direction of growth and development lie ahead of St. Stephen's, and I feel that the present student body is perhaps going to have the privilege, to an unusual degree, of helping, through enthusiastic loyalty and co-operation to shape a future of which we shall all be proud: maintaining the splendid traditions whose worth has been proved, but advancing always, with widening vision towards an enriching betterment."

Miss Lilliebell Barton, the new Bursar, although she has only recently been appointed, has been with the College for the past ten years. She was born in Vineland, New Jersey, but later lived for long periods in Philadelphia, Kansas City, and New York.

Miss Barton also sings, having studied under many teachers, including her father, and at the Cranston School of Music in Kansas City. She has sung in many churches, often as soloist, and has given concerts in various parts of the country, often singing with Chautauquas on tour. Before coming to St. Stephen's, Miss Barton sang for three years in the Church of the Atonement in Tenafly, New Jersey, and in the Church of the Resurrection at 24th Street and Park Avenue, New York City. During and after the war, the new Bursar worked for the Red Cross in Kansas City. She then came to New York where she was employed by Haley Fiske to take care of the College books.

A valuable addition to the English department has been made in the appointment of Mr. Harvey Fite to the Faculty of St. Stephen's College. Mr. Fite left St. Stephen's in 1929, going to the artist's colony at Woodstock, New York, and a little later becoming a member of the active company of the Maverick Theatre. While with this company, he played in various productions, such as "Rain", "Second Man", and "The Show-Off". Some time later, Mr. Fite went in Restoration Drama with the Jitney Players, taking part in two plays of Richard B. Sheridan, namely: "A Trip to Scarborough" and "The Drama". Mr. Fite also performed in plays by Moliere. Mr. Fite has also played at the Madison Play House, Madison, Connecticut. Here he took part in such plays as "The Romantic Young Lady" with Mme. Ouspenskaya, "The Best People", "The Dover Road", and other productions.

Before coming to St. Stephen's, Mr. Fite took part in some of the Operettas of Gilbert and Sullivan at the Guild Theatre in Baltimore. Mr. Fite is working very hard at St. Stephen's, preparing a college theatre in which members of the Dramatics course will annually give various, original, one-act plays besides the two or three main productions, the cast of which will be drawn from the entire college.

Mr. James Blackwell, the new business manager at St. Stephen's was graduated with the class of 1892. After graduation, Mr. Blackwell tutored for several years and then taught for six years at the Carpenter School, in New York. In the past few years, he has been manager of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club. Until his appointment as business manager at St. Stephen's, Mr. Blackwell was an alumnus representative of the Board of Trustees of the college.

Another new member of the administration, formerly of Wellesley College, is Miss Helen Wilkin who has been appointed to the position of hostess at the college. Miss Wilkin has travelled a great deal. During the post-war period of reconstruction, she spent two years in Germany where she worked as librarian in the American Hospital.

Red Hook Defeats

Freshman Harriers

The Red Hook High School cross country team visited St. Stephen's College to take the long end of the verdict from the freshmen of that institution on October 1. The final result was 27-28. The individual winner was Bill Snyder, lanky freshman harrier who negotiated the distance of two miles in the fast time of twelve minutes and seven seconds. Closely following him was Ralph Drogula, also of the home team and winner of Class C in last year's interscholastic meet, who traversed the course in twelve minutes and thirteen seconds. Both of these men broke the former record of twelve minutes and thirty seconds for this distance held by Lloyd Bell, a former captain of the St. Stephen's team. Snyder ran a beautiful race to do this by finishing with a strong sprint at the end, with which Drogula was unable to cope. Chappell also ran a nice race covering the distance in better time than Carr and Morell, former runners for St. Stephen's. The results of this meet considerably enhances the prospect for this year's team. Together with Captain Schmidt, Kendall and Blackie, they should compose a fine team for the coming season. The officials were the two coaches, Dr. Phalen of St. Stephen's and Mr. Bellanger of Red Hook.

An interscholastic cross country meet will be held at St. Stephen's on the afternoon of Nov. 4th. Last year a similar meet was held for the teams of thirty-five high schools in surrounding counties. Dr. Phalen, the promoter, hopes to have forty such schools entered in this fall's race. The runners will travel over the same two and one-half mile course which they used last year. The Rev. Charles Jessup, '82, of Buffalo, N. Y., has offered a trophy which he will present to the team making the best aggregate time. The teams will be divided into three classes, according to the size of the student bodies of their respective schools. The first three men to finish on each team will count in the scoring.

Thirteen schools in Dutchess County will stage a like meet on October 27.

Columbia U. Issues "Greek Tragedy"

First Volume of Dr. Harry's Work Well Received

The first volume of "Greek Tragedy: emendations, interpretations, and critical notes," by Dr. Joseph E. Harry, Hoffman Professor of Greek language and literature at St. Stephen's College, was issued by the Columbia University Press during the past summer.

"This work," say the Columbia Press, "contains exactly what the subtitle indicates: emendations and interpretations, with critical notes and discussions, of difficult passages in the thirty-three extant plays of Aeschylus, Sophocles and Euripides. Any Greek scholar will instantly realize that here is no ordinary publication. The inception of such a work is dangerous indeed. One's imagination falters at the colossal labor Professor Harry has poured into these pages."

In this study "Dr. Harry asserts that there are at least 40,000 errors in modern editions of Greek tragedy that merely 'befuddle the brains and obfuscate the intellects of our students,' and which must be cleared up," says the New York Herald Tribune. "The fault lies," Dr. Harry says, "with the eminent editors who have substituted some of their own suppositions in the more difficult passages." The Albany Knickerbocker Press commenting on Dr. Harry's work, says "there are not half a dozen men in the world today from whose hand these volumes of emendations, interpretations and critical notes could have come."

Dr. Albert Jay Nock, '92 and formerly of the History Department of St. Stephen's, recently said in a letter to Dr. Harry: "Perhaps I may, with the rest of the unlearned, express our appreciation of the labours which have cleared our way to a better understanding of the great dramatists. To know them is to love them, and by enabling us to know them better, you enable us to love them more; and I think that no reward would be more acceptable to you than this. Your volume shall be my constant companion and guide in my readings."

The second volume of Dr. Harry's work is ready for the press and will be half as large again as the first, inasmuch as the number of extant plays of Euripides is greater than those of Aeschylus and Sophocles combined.

Contributors' Column

To the Editor of the Lyre Tree:

Upon my arrival at Zabriskie "Stadium" last Saturday afternoon, I was agreeably surprised, yea, my very heart jumped, to hear bursts of organized cheering and whole-hearted support for the St. Stephen's warriors in their combat with the Williams College gladiators. It was music to my ears for seldom in my two years of residence on this campus, (though I've prayed and wished mightily for such to happen), have I noticed a really keen interest in athletic competition. It made me glad to watch the game and revived my interest in sport at St. Stephen's, so that I now look forward to future contests with live anticipation, instead of something to help Saturday afternoons go by. We have good teams here; we have good sports. Let's keep the spirit up.

Requirements In Classics Changed

Because of the informal relations between the two professors teaching this course, Dr. Garabedian and Dr. Smith, and the students, the material can be understood to the best advantage.

The addition of this course to the curriculum satisfies a long felt need of quite a considerable group in the student body. The choir work and the organ concerts stimulated the force that culminated in the institution of the musical appreciation course. With this course the choir work, and the music in the chapel St. Stephen's has something very definite to offer to those interested in musical expression.

"These provisions for creative expression on the part of a larger number of students in the college will form an integral part of the educational program of the institution," explained Dean Tewksbury, adding that "the conventional distinction between curricula and extracurricula activities is becoming an anachronism in higher education."

"St. Stephen's College proposes to afford full opportunity for young men to develop their individual talents not only through a program adapted to their individual needs but also to the demands of contemporary life.

"Further consideration is being given this year to the possibilities of bringing the college more fully in touch with the cultural resources and opportunities available at Columbia University in New York City. As one of the residential colleges within the educational system of Columbia University, St. Stephen's is able to maintain its own distinctive character and at the same time draw on the educational resources of the larger university.

"The Dean Nicholas Murray Butler, in commenting on the relations existing between the two institutions, states: 'Still another tendency, signs of which are already in evidence, will begin to exercise no small influence on the separate college. That is the tendency to profit by becoming a member of the educational system of a neighboring university, without thereby losing or in any way impairing the separateness, the independence, or the corporate responsibility of the separate college itself.

"The advantages of such an association are obvious. All the authority and influence of a powerful university and its great body of scholars will be exerted to support proper standards of admission and graduation, and to stimulate and fertilize, by many-sided contacts, the intellectual life and labors of the separate college. It is of the essence of a system such as this that the separate college remains separate and financially independent."

Dean Tewksbury is planning to arrange for various consultations with committees of faculty members and students in order to ascertain the views of both the faculty and the students in regard to curricula changes. In this manner the Dean hopes to discover new and desirable developments to make in the courses of study offered at the college. Such distinctive programs of St. Stephen's is keeping the college abreast with the latest developments in education and also before the public.

In the last few months St. Stephen's has been before the public eye continuously. Eighty-five newspapers located within a radius of one hundred miles of the college have carried articles concerning the developments of the college. Everything that is done and accomplished here at Annandale is recognized as vital to both the educational world and the public.

the Baccalaureate service at the end of the year, listed separately in the catalogue, fall within this general specification.)

"2. The 6.15 vesper service, each Tuesday and Thursday. These services will be enhanced, from time to time, by such special musical accompaniments as the organist and choir may be prepared to offer. Unless there is notice to the contrary (in accordance with the statement under Section 3), attendance at Vespers on other days of the week will be optional—although it is hoped that the freely-given support of interested men will enable us to preserve the devotional and musical values which invest the daily evening prayers in our College Chapel with unique significance and beauty.

"3. Certain special services on important holy days of the Church's year, normally including: Michaelmas; All Saints; Christmas (Carol service), evening before the holidays; Epiphany; Candlemas; Annunciation; Ash Wednesday; Ascension Day. The nature and hour of each service will be announced before-hand at Sunday chapel and on the bulletin board.

"II. Attendance will be recorded, as in the past, at the services at which the presence of the whole college is expected. Necessary absences may be arranged, on an individual basis, through consultation with the Dean. On all days when corporate chapel attendance is expected at Vespers, the bell will be rung at short intervals from 6.08 to 6.15; on other days it will be rung at five minute intervals between 6.00 and 6.15."

Convocation Calls

First of Meetings

The first meeting of the Convocation of Undergraduates of St. Stephen's College was held in Hesperian Theatre on the evening of October 9.

The meeting was called for the purpose of considering three or four questions affecting the interest of the student body. The first of these was the matter of the student tax. The Student Council presented a budget of Convocation finances which called for the reduction of the tax from ten to five dollars. It was pointed out that the failure of Convocation in the past year to collect this student tax, led to the elimination of such vital parts of the life as the Lyre Tree, the Annual, and several other activities because of the lack of finances. After a short discussion by various students, it was almost unanimously voted by Convocation to ask each student to pay a tax of five dollars. It was also voted to give the Lyre Tree Board the sum of fifty dollars from the treasury with which to finance the first issue of the paper. It is hoped by the Council that with renewed support from both alumni and students, the Lyre Tree will be able to finance itself in the near future. With this in mind the Student Council appeals to both graduates and undergraduates of St. Stephen's to interest themselves in any possible way to maintain this essential part of college life.

Although new students have no vote in Convocation meetings until after one semester at college, they are invited by the Council to attend them as they occur from time to time. Some questions are bound to arise which would interest all students. Moreover, new men can become acquainted with this interesting phase of student life by attendance. Every student should come to all its meetings, and nothing should be permitted to interfere with this duty and privilege.

St. Stephen's Ties Williams Eleven

in feeding the ball to the St. Stephen's forward line. Thatcher, Leone, and Brewer, new men, showed up well.

It was no easy matter for the Saints to hold back the strong offense of the Purple. Repeatedly the latter turned back Coach Leeke's booters by the sterling play of the halfbacks, Carr, MacMiller, and Hilles. Captain Allen at outside left was the mainstay of his team's forward line, displaying uncanny footwork and accurate kicking.

Time of Periods: 22 min.; 10 min. overtime.

The St. Stephen's senior eleven defeated Brooklyn College 9-2 with a strong rally led by Economos and Oustinoff, in the last quarter of the game at Annandale last Saturday.

Both colleges showed good teamwork, and it was only by the persistent snoring of St. Stephen's at the tailback of Brooklyn that the latter home in defeat. During the last three-quarters of the game, the play was cautious. Several of the Saints' leading players, Brady, Rosenberg, Goldstein, and Healy, had received injuries during practice, but nevertheless played hard throughout the game.

At the start both teams threatened to score, but the breath-taking saves of the two goal guards, Goldstein and Silber, prevented the ball from going into the net. It was Johnny Burgevin, a senior center, who brought the first tally to the Saints with a powerful penalty kick. In the second period Bassin, leader of the Brooklyn squad, evaded the count, and then sent the ball again in the third quarter to give his team a lead which, for a long time, looked very safe. But towards the end of the game, when it seemed that St. Stephen's was doomed to defeat, Homer Economos slipped the ball past Silber to start a rally which sent those on the side lines into a frenzy and which eventually won the game for St. Stephen's. That another tie game should go in the books this season was averted when Oustinoff, with a beautiful corner-kick, hooked the ball into the corner of the cage for the winning point.

Mass. State Downs

Scarlet Harriers

The St. Stephen's harriers lost their opening meet of the season last Saturday, bowing to a better balanced Massachusetts State cross country team, 17-33 at Amherst.

The individual winners were Captain Caird and Stepat of Massachusetts who tied for first honors in the good time of 22:23.5 for the difficult four mile course. The first St. Stephen's man to finish was Bill Snyder, brilliant freshman runner, who negotiated the distance in 23:42. Snyder's time was better than that of the winner in the race between those two institutions in 1931, which was run over the same course. The individual winner that year was Mason of M. S. C., who covered the four miles in 22:47. Massachusetts took the first, second, third, fifth and sixth places in Saturday's run. Following Snyder for the Saints were Drozula, in seventh place, Captain Schmidt in tenth, Chappell in eleventh and Stu Blackie in twelfth. The feature of the race was the fine duel for third place between Proctor of Massachusetts and Snyder. These two alternated for most of the race. During the last mile they ran neck and neck until Proctor managed to pull away with a fine sprint in the last hundred yards.

102 Men Register For Opening Term

are: Miss Fisher, Nurse; Miss Trumpour, Librarian; Miss Barton, Bursar; Miss Rollins, Secretary to the Dean; Miss Wilkin, Hostess; and Mr. Blackwell, Dietitian and Business Manager.

A few changes have been made in the curriculum, among them a lessening of the ancient language requirements, an additional English course in Drama, and a music appreciation course. Mr. Harvey Fite, '30, has been added to the staff of the English Department to supervise theatre work in the drama course. A theatre is being built by the members of the course in Orient Hall. A music room fixed in Bard Hall under the direction of Drs. Garabedian and Smith for the music course. Additional courses in other departments are also being offered.

The new student spirit on campus is evidenced by the revival of clubs and institutions and the beginnings made in new organizations. The Lyre Tree has been revived as have the Varsity and Tri-Sig Clubs. A rally was held the night before the Williams soccer match culminating with a bonfire on Hatfield Athletic Field. The Varsity Club held an informal dance in the gymnasium following the game which met with approval from both faculty and students. A new club has been started under Dr. Davidson's direction and named the Outing Club. The plan of this organization is to have hikes and camping parties at places of interest.

There is a greater number of men out for soccer than in past years and Mr. Leeke, the coach, is well pleased with the athletic prospects for the year. The Board of Trustees has enlarged the athletic budget and St. Stephen's is to have intercollegiate competition in soccer, cross-country, basketball, baseball and tennis. Athletic captaincies for the current year are held by John Keppler, '34, soccer and baseball; William Schmidt, '34, cross-country; Arthur Kent, '35, tennis. Paul Woodruff and John Burgevin are co-captains of basketball. Plans were made for the fall tennis tournament, the Md-Hudson Inter-scholastic Cross-country meet, and for the usual interclass soccer tournament. The class of 1934 is the defending champion of the cup first awarded to the class of 1935 two years ago.

Another innovation at the college is the additional help given to students by allowing them to work around the campus at a fixed stipend per hour. The Library assistants are all hired under this system and the mail is now brought from Annandale to college and vice versa by students. Some students also cut the lawn and tend fires as well. Along with the intellectual and material improvements already enumerated there are several social changes some of which have been mentioned. There is, as has been said, a suggestion for more informal dances. The usual proms and fraternity dances will also be held. Plans are already being made by the Class of 1935 to promote the Junior Prom. The German and French Clubs are also making plans for the year. The usual yearly program of lectures and recitals will bring to the college several speakers and artists of note.

A lecture on television, accompanied by a practical demonstration of this branch of the radio science, by Mr. J. O. Perrine, of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co., on October 16, in the Memorial Gymnasium, was the second of a series of lectures to be given at St. Stephen's this year. The obtaining of Mr. Perrine and the demonstration were made possible through the courtesy of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Varsity and Tri-Sig Clubs Reorganized

The Tri-Sig Club and the Varsity Club have been revived this year after two seasons of inactivity. Both organizations hope to become important features in the life of the St. Stephen's campus.

To be eligible for membership in the Tri-Sig Club, one must have earned either one letter in three different sports, or two insignias in one sport and one in a second. There is one exception to this rule, namely: that a captain in any one sport is also eligible. To be eligible for the Varsity Club, one must be a sophomore or an upper-classman, and must have received a letter in one major sport, or as manager of a sport.

At present, the membership of the Tri-Sig Club includes: John Burgevin, President; William Schmidt, Vice-President; Herbert Dienst, Secretary and Treasurer; John Keppler, Paul Woodruff, Martin Goldstein and Arthur Kent. The present members of the Varsity Club are: John Keppler, President; William Schmidt, Vice President; Harry Jones, Secretary and Treasurer; John Burgevin, Paul Woodruff, Van Kirk Brownell, Robert Kendall, Bostwick Ketchum, Herbert Dienst, Martin Goldstein, Jay Molyneaux, Pierre Oustinoff, George Jastram, Arthur Kent, William Mitchell, Harold Brady, William Nieman, Richard Frost, Stuart Blackie and Elliott Rosenberg. Also, Mr. Leeke and Dr. Phalen are honorary members.

A very successful dance was held by the Varsity Club in the Memorial Gymnasium on October 7, the evening after the Williams soccer game.

College Hikers Form Outing Club

An Outing Club was formed at St. Stephen's College last week as a rather informal organization to further the interest in hiking and mountain climbing which the students of that institution now show.

Each year there has been a group at the college which has found pleasure in the out-of-doors. The club will aid these men in securing trail maps and in planning hikes and trips. The Catskill Mountains, just across the Hudson from St. Stephen's, offer splendid opportunities for such recreation. During the winter, skiing and snowshoe trips will be arranged. Should weather permit, a winter carnival will be held.

At a recent meeting of the new organization, a Trails Committee, consisting of Messrs. Jack Lydman, John Burgevin, Jay Molyneaux, Michael Stillman and Herbert Dienst, was appointed to approve plans for hikes and trips. The Outing Club hopes to have a large membership among the student body, and requests that anybody who may be interested hand his name to one of the committee. Members of the faculty taking an interest in the club are Dr. Davidson, Dr. Flournoy and Professor Voorhees.

Fall Tournament Won By C. Smyth

Downs Kent In Finals To Be First Frosh To Win

The Fall Tennis Tournament was, for the first time in the record of its competition, won by a freshman, Carlisle Smyth.

The tournament was featured by its lack of upsets, except in the final match, since all four seeded players, Captain Arthur Kent, Carlisle Smyth, John Burgevin and Kenneth Bush, respectively, reached the semi-final round. Their victories, however, were not easily scored. Bush was extended to three sets before conquering R. Scott, a freshman. Burgevin also experienced difficulty in winning from Ted Smyth, Carlisle's brother, by the score of 6-3, 9-11, 6-2. The second set in particular was thrilling for the spectators, as Burgevin reached match point time and again, only to have T. Smyth draw even, and finally, win the set, 11-9. Burgevin then won the third set and match.

It was to be expected that the best tennis playing of the tournament was to be seen in the final round. Captain Kent and C. Smyth played four stirring sets, the score, in favor of Smyth, being 6-0, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1. The victor won the first eight games before Kent settled down, and although Kent played well and steadily, he eventually found his initial handicap too great to overcome. It was a hard-fought match, featured by long rallies and brilliant shots. In all fairness to the finalists it must be stated that C. Smyth is regarded as the best tennis player at St. Stephen's in the past three years.

The summaries:
First round: Economos defeated Reinhold, 6-0, 6-3; Scott defeated Baitenger, 6-1, 6-3; Bush defeated LeFevre, 6-3, 6-4; Burgevin defeated Clarke, 6-3, 6-4; T. Smyth defeated Reynolds, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3; Joseph defeated Miller; C. Smyth defeated Woodruff, 6-1, 6-0; Kent, bye. Second round: Kent defeated Economos, 6-3, 6-3; Bush defeated Scott, 6-3, 5-7, 6-1; Burgevin defeated T. Smyth, 6-3, 9-11, 6-2; C. Smyth defeated Joseph, 6-0, 6-1. Semi-finals: Kent defeated Bush, 4-6, 6-1, 7-5; C. Smyth defeated Burgevin, 6-4, 6-3. Finals: C. Smyth defeated Kent, 6-0, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1.

ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y.
A Residential College for Men

A College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, associated with the Episcopal Church but with no ecclesiastical restrictions in the selection of its faculty or student body; incorporated within the educational system of Columbia University and conferring the university degree of Bachelor of Arts.

It combines the advantages of college and university education. Its location at Annandale-on-Hudson, 95 miles from New York City gives it the advantages of both city and country life.

The College, founded in 1860, is equipped to teach men who, after graduation, are intending to enter post-graduate schools of medicine, law, journalism, or theology, or into classical, scientific, social, or literary research. Scholarships, bursaries, and employment are available for qualified students.

The fees are: for tuition, $360 a year; for furnished room, $150 a year; for board in hall $250 a year.
