First Four Places

The Crimson and White banner was displayed in all its glory on the St. Stephen's campus, as the Legion team took the top four places in the annual Courier
American Legion Race.

In the first event, the four-mile run, Nobis came in first, followed by Fite, then Weber, and finally Dillin.

The second event was the one-mile sprint, with Nobis again taking the cup, followed by Fite, Weber, and Dillin in that order.

The third event was the two-mile walk, with Nobis leading, followed by Fite, Weber, and Dillin.

The final event was the five-mile run, with Nobis in first place, Fite in two, Weber in third, and Dillin in fourth.

Norman Angell Denies
Justification for War

Noted English pacifist denies
"Preponderance of Arms"

In a speech speaking with wit and convincing logic, Norman Angell, noted English pacifist, presented a scathing indictment of war to the students of the college.

In his lecture, he expressed the evil of war and the implications
for the future of society.

Analyzing the political and
moral implications of war,
he concluded that war is unnecessary and destructive.

DEAN SARGENT SPEAKS
IN CHAPEL

On Sunday, November 27, Dean
Sargent of the Cathedral at St. John's, Long Island, addressed
the students from the chapel pulpit.

The Dean chose the story of David and Absalom for the text of his sermon.

He questioned the appeal of young people to violence, and questioned the morality of such actions.

The Dean concluded by calling for peace and understanding.

The speech was well-received,
and it was a highlight of the week.

Faculty Member and Student Give Recitals

Dr. Sherico and Willis Have Excellent Programs

Dr. Sherico gave a very interesting organ recital in the chapel Wednesday afternoon, November 23rd. The program was in keeping with the Thanksgiving season and included the following selections:

1. (a) Fuge on "Alleen Gott in der Hohr" .............. Bach (paraphrase on Hymn 424)
   (b) Sarabande .............. Bach
2. (a) A. D. MOCX .... Macowell
   (b) In Nomine Domino .... Macowell (Pilgrim's Song of Thanksgiving)
3. Adoration .............. Borowski
4. To Deum Laudamus .............. Claudius
   (Adoration of Christ the King)
5. Largo "From the New World Symphony" ........ Dvorak
6. Marche Pontifical ....... Guessed
7. Nature's Adoration ........ Beethoven
8. Cantique D'Amour ...... Stravinsky

The third organ recital of the season was given on Wednesday, November 16th, by Arthur R. Willis of the Freshman Class. The following program was rendered:

1. Two Preludes —
   Morning ——— Cummings
   Evening ——— Cummings
2. Lendonderry Air ——— Old Irish Tune
3. Largo "From the New World Symphony" ——— Dvorak
4. Marche Pontifical ——— Guessed
5. Nature's Adoration ——— Beethoven
6. Cantique D'Amour ——— Stravinsky

MUMMERS CHOOSE STAFF

At a meeting of the Mummies on Monday, November 28th, the business staff was chosen. Kroll will continue to act as stage manager. Hagen was chosen to act as electrician and property man; Moller volunteered to take the job of business manager and Aschenbach was selected for costume director. The plays will be given on December 8 as previously planned.

HOKEY SQUAD IS ORGANIZED

A meeting of all men interested in hockey was held in Albee Recreation Room on Tuesday, November 22. About twenty men attended the meeting, and tentative plans for the organization of hockey as a regular sport were drawn up. Coach Phelan, whose admirable work with the cross country team has marked him as eminently fitted for leadership in sports, was elected to coach the new sport. Lev Smith and Callizar announced their intentions to go out for the job of manager. Orders for equipment have already been sent and a tentative schedule with other nearby colleges is being drawn up.

"Why should a college man kill himself?"

"Oh, lots of reasons. Women, wine, other things."

"And if he had none of these?" "Still more reason why he should be.

THE INTERCAMPUS

A Baptist minister in Greenville, S. C., made a protest from the pulpit against the hazing of college freshman. He said that the members of the faculty should sit up all night watching the students to prevent it.

Recently the President asked a student if he had read "The Good News." The latter promptly replied, "No, but I have seen the play."

The slump in Trinity's athletic ability since the war, up to recently, has been attributed to the fact that the college gave her soul to her country and never received it back. ("If you would save your soul you must lose it, and if you lose your soul you will save it."

The Good Old Days

Less than a century ago the following regulations were more or less observed at Mt. Holyoke:
1. No young lady shall become a member of Mt. Holyoke Seminary who cannot kindle a fire, wash potatoes, repeat the multiplication table, and at least two-thirds of the shorter catechism.
2. Every member of the school shall walk at least one mile a day unless a freshet, earthquake, or some other calamity prevent.
3. No young lady shall devote more than an hour a day to miscellaneous reading. The Atlantic Monthly, Shakespeare, Scott's works, Robinson Crusoe and other immoral works are strictly prohibited. When Lindbergh was a student at the University of Wisconsin, the thirty odd fraternities there passed him by as not worth a bid.

FRATERNITY NOTES

Eulexian takes pleasure in announcing that it has pledged Grant Bonnel, '30, on Saturday, Nov. 19.

Larry Webber, '25, and Leon de Valingen, '30 (now at the University of Delaware), were Thanksgiving guests of Eulexian.

Kappa Gamma Chi entertained a number of the new men at a bout and smoker on Sunday, November 20.

Kappa Gamma Chi also wishes to announce that it has pledged Elliot B. Campbell, '30.

For the past few weeks, Sigma Alpha Epsilon has been entertaining freshmen and new men at smokers in their house in the village. Cards and music have constituted the principal items of entertainment. Eric Dawson, secretary of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity, paid a visit to the local chapter on November 28-29. Mr. Dawson, as secretary of the national organization, makes a visit to all the active chapters in the United States during the year.
NORMAN ANGELL DENIES

(Continued from page 1) prosperity by crushing a competing nation. “If it were possible by preponderance of military force to take another nation’s trade, why isn’t England doing it?” England, he pointed out, crushed German commerce. Why isn’t England rolling in wealth, instead of facing the problem of a million unemployed? Three years after the Treaty of Versailles, England found out that she had to dig down into an almost empty pocket to set up Germany in trade again. She found out that she could not exist without her dreaded competitor.”

In what was perhaps the most striking train of reasoning of the evening, Mr. Angell exposed the fallacy of so-called “defensive warfare.” “Defensive warfare is never in defense of territory,” he said, “it is the defense of your view of your rights.” He asserted that it was not only anti-social but ridiculous to argue that “in the inevitable conflict with other nations we intend to be the judge of what our rights are, and we intend to be sufficiently powerful to enforce our judgments. It is a moral impossibility to attempt to be the judge of a dispute to which we are one of the parties.”

Mr. Angell also refuted some of what he termed “the minor arguments for war.” In discussing the argument sometimes raised, that armies are for the same purpose as police forces, he pointed out that they are for just the opposite purpose. “The police force of a state is maintained in order that each citizen may not be the judge of his own disputes,” he said. “The army of a nation, on the contrary, is for the express purpose of enabling that nation to be the judge of its own disputes.”

Referring to the argument that pacifists ignore human nature, he said, “Man is that kind of an animal. He is intent on his biological struggle for bread, and for that very reason we have to have a court of international arbitration.” He pointed out that we take cognizance of human nature within a nation, without allowing a state of anarchy to rise from disputes. The same thing, he declared, is possible among nations as among citizens. There is no more reason to have international anarchy than to have internal anarchy.

Mr. Angell’s last point was an indictment of the popular conceptions (Continued on page 4)

St. Stephen’s College
A CHURCH COLLEGE OF ARTS AND LETTERS

With four years’ work leading to the degree of B. A. It meets the highest standards of scholarship set by the Middle States College Association, and features inexpensiveness of living, intimate personal companionship of professors and students, and sincerity.

The fees are: For tuition, $250 a year; for room, furnished and heated, $150 a year; for board in hall, $250 a year; a total of $650.

The college is equipped for teaching men who after graduation, are going into business or into post graduate schools of medicine, law, theology, journalism, or into classical, social, literary or scientific research.
Modern Dining Commons Is Planned by College

$250,000 Building Group Is Now to Be Seen on Paper

The work of St. Stephen's College is seriously hampered by the inadequacy of the commons facilities. That very necessary part in the life of a college community is housed in a building hopelessly out of date.

To remedy this condition, the College has devoted three years to the planning of a modern dining commons group. The buildings are to be constructed of field stone, trimmed with Indiana limestone. The roofs will be of slate. The total cost of such a commons group will be $250,000. The administration is now bending effort in an endeavor to raise this amount.

(Continued from page 3) —or rather, misconceptions—of democracy. "Democracy," he said, "is not everybody making motions on everything. It is perhaps not necessarily true that the voice of the people is the voice of God. In fact I have often found that the voice of the people is the voice of Satan, and the only cure for democracy is to recognize that fact and make some sort of provision for it." The greatest illusion of modern political thought is that we think that a rather easy goodness is all that is necessary to insure the success of democracy.

We think that if the heart is sound, it doesn't matter how thick the head may be. God will tell us to do the right thing, but He will not tell us what that thing is. God will be no man's daily drudge. We have got to expend intellectual effort, or democracy will fail. We must reshape the instruments of democracy, or democracy won't work.

Tufts Coach Introduces New Training Rules

Coach Sampson Outlines Novel System

Coach Sampson, director of the unbeaten Tufts College football team, has introduced a new system of training for his athletes that is bound to appeal to a large majority of his proteges. Says the coach, "I figured to let them get the most fun possible out of the game." He condemned the use of tackling dummies and such equipment with the following argument, "a sound man will tackle hard; a man with shoulders lame from scrimmage or plugging at the tackling dummy can't, even if he wants to." Contrary to the customary procedure, the coach reasoned that a training table was not beneficial. "It seemed to me that the boys might not on each other's nerves if they had to eat all their meals together. I let them eat where they choose." Judging from the results the experiment of introducing novelty and individuality into coaching methods has been a decided success. During the last season the Tufts team has rolled up a total of 218 points to its opponents' 18.

Brown is probably unique among "fraternity" colleges in having as the president of its senior class a non-fraternity man.

When one freshman heard that a certain college was going to play Iolanthe, he asked, "Have they a football team?"
