CRIMSON DEFEATS C. C. N. Y., 7-0

Varsity Scores Decisive Victory In Hard Fought Contest

Playing a superior brand of football and fighting every inch of the way, the Crimson defeated the heavy City College eleven by a score of 7-0 Saturday, at the Lewisohn Stadium. A drizzling rain and a heavy field greatly impeded the open play of the Varsity and prevented a larger score.

St. Stephen's scored in the second quarter when Simmons intercepted a forward pass on the C. C. N. Y. forty yard line. White followed with a fifteen yard run around left end. Coffin advanced the ball twenty yards on a forward pass and White again circled left end for a touchdown. Simmons kicked from placement for the extra point. The nearest that the New Yorkers came to scoring was in the last period when Schtierman intercepted a forward pass on the Lavendar forty-five yard line and ran it back twenty yards. A series of line plunges netted a first down. At this point Kilby intercepted an attempted forward pass and carried the ball forty yards.

Both teams played a good defensive game, line plunging proving of little avail. Many penalties were inflicted, the Crimson getting the larger share. St. Stephen's secured 12 first downs to C. C. N. Y.'s five. White showed up particularly well for the Varsity, proving a wonder on the offensive.

The Play by Quarters.

1. City College won the toss and chose to kick off. White received the ball and ran it back ten yards. Noble skirted right end for eight yards, and a short pass from Deloria to Coffin netted seven yards. Here the Lavendar defense stiffened, and Noble punted down the field. C. C. N. Y. attempted several massed plays but failed to gain. Oshins then punted back up the field. St. Stephen's quickly brought the ball within scoring distance where they were penalized for holding.

2. City College secured the ball on downs and punted out of danger. Farber intercepted a forward pass, but was downed in his tracks. Simmons intercepted an attempted forward pass and ran the ball to the Lavendar forty yard line. White secured fifteen yards on a run around left end. Deloria threw a neat pass to Coffin which netted twenty yards. White then again circled left end, this time for a touchdown. Simmons kicked from placement for the extra point. City College received, but the half ended shortly afterward.

3. Simmons elected to receive. Farber kicked off to White, who ran back ten yards. Then St. Stephen's began a slow march down the field. Finally with the ball on the C. C. N. Y. ten yard line a penalty for holding stopped the advance. The Lavendar took the ball on downs and a long punt by Oshins sent the ball back into the Crimson territory. For the remainder of the quarter the ball see-sawed back and forth in the middle of the field.

4. Schtierman intercepted a forward pass on the C. C. N. Y. forty-five yard line and ran the ball back twenty yards. Here a fifteen yard penalty was inflicted on the Lavendar for illegal substitution, but was followed by a series of line plunges which netted a first down. At this point Kilby, intercepting a forward pass, carried the ball back forty yards. St. Stephen's essayed several forward passes, none of which resulted in any material gains. They then punted down the field and the game ended.

Prof. McDonald Begins Work As Seminary Lecturer

Last Friday, our Professor of Philosophy and Ethics, the Reverend John M. S. McDonald began his work as Lecturer in Christian Ethics at the General Theological Seminary in New York City. A vacancy recently occurred in the Seminary staff, due to the absence on leave of the Professor of Ethics, Dr. Hunt, and, of all the available men from which to fill this important post. Professor McDonald was selected. His new duties it may be added, do not prevent him from conducting his regular classes at St. Stephen's as usual, so that, in this case, at least, another's gain is not our loss.

When questioned concerning his new work Prof. McDonald said that he found it most interesting and stimulating, dealing, as it does, with Ethics interpreted from the Christian viewpoint.

The best wishes of all his many friends go with him in his latest task.

JUNIOR PROM. NOV. 24th

The first meeting of the Junior Class was held on Sunday evening, Oct. 1st. The main topic of discussion was the class dance and it was finally decided to hold the "Prom." on Friday evening, Nov. 24th. Music will be furnished by the Imperial Orchestra of Kingston.

Varsity Loses to Rensselaer, 25-0

TEAM FIGHTS HARD, BUT ENGINEERS SUPERIOR WEIGHT TELLS

The onward march of the Crimson eleven received a setback at the hands of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute on Saturday, September 30th. The team journeyed to Troy, determined after their victory over St. Lawrence the previous Saturday and hoping to take the engineers in camp. But the strong R. P. I. line, averaging 190 pounds from tackle to tackle, and the fleet backs behind it, proved too great an obstacle for the lighter Annandale eleven. The team fought hard, played well, but could not win. Two Rensselaer backs picked up fumbles of their own men on separate occasions and ran half the length of the field for touchdowns. The other two scores were made by straight line smashing tactics, the heavier team literally sweeping the lighter aggregation before it. St. Stephen's only gains were some thrilling end runs by White and some short forward passes thrown by Deloria to White and Coffin. Four varsity players, Noble, Judd Simmonds and Langdon were compelled to leave the game because of injuries.

Play by Quarters.

1. Simmons won the toss and elected to receive. Harvey Simmonds caught the kick but when tackled, fumbled, and an R. P. I. back recovered on the Crimson twenty yard line. The Troy quarterback proceeded to attack through the center of the Annandale line, making considerable gains. Within four minutes Benedict had carried the ball across for the first touchdown. Sparrow failed in his attempt of goal by drop kick. St. Stephen's again received. Failing to gain, Noble sent a beautiful punt down the field which rolled nearly to the R. P. I. goal line. Here an R. P. I. back fumbled and a St. Stephen's tackle recovered on the ten yard line. Four times the Varsity attempted to get the ball across, utilizing two line plunges, an end run, and an attempted forward pass, but all failed, the R. P. I. line proving to be a veritable stone wall. The engineers punted out of danger and the quarter ended with the ball in midfield in Rensselaer's possession.

Score—Rensselaer, 6. St. Stephen's 0.

2. The engineers continued to direct their attack at the center of the Crimson line but with little success.

LETTING OFF STEAM

On chill evenings at St. Stephen's it has always been the custom of a number of coffee-pot-valiant souls to sit about the percolator and look for trouble. Chiefly do they lament the small number of collegiate activities outside the field of regular studies. After talking themselves blue both in face and spirit, they are wont to conclude that something ought to be done about it,—but they never have any constructive suggestions about the nature of that something.

This year matters will be different. An ideal safety-valve has been provided for the soul's health of those among the brethren who have a superabundant supply of hot air in their compositions. The Dramatic Society is just the sort of outside diversion for which our dissatisfied friends have been asking, and no doubt they will at once enter into its activities for all they are worth. What that worth may be is as yet uncertain, but some good dramatic talent is sure to be discovered. If anyone feels the presence of such talent within him let him show it now, and the general disposition of the student body will benefit doubly from his change of occupation.

No one could fail to notice the great contrast between the receptions awarded our football team on their return after the first and after the second game. This should not be. Whether they have met with victory or have suffered defeat, we know that our men have fought their hardest, and it is for this they should be honored. We never did think much of the Spartan attitude of condemnation towards the vanquished.

THE DRAGON CLUB

An organization that for the past decade has been a vital factor in the attainment of good scholarship at St. Stephen's appears to be on the brink of extinction. Two men in the college have been able to meet the rigorous requirement for membership in the Dragon Club, an average of eighty-five or better for three semesters of residence work. One of these will complete his course in February.

The Dragon Club should not be allowed to perish. An honorary organization for good scholarship is an essential of any college and St. Stephen's is no exception. The new men should be made to realize the value of good work and encouraged to strive to attain membership.

Dr. Bell at Harvard

Preaches at University Chapel—also at Pomfret School.

President Bell will be the preacher next Sunday, and also on the following Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at University Chapel, Harvard University. While there he will hold daily an office hour for consultation by individual students on religious and moral problems. This is the president's first visit to Harvard, although he has been for some years one of the university preachers at Princeton, Williams, Wellesley and Cornell. He will visit all of of these places during the year, and preach also at Amherst and Columbia.

Last Sunday the President was the preacher at Pomfret School, Pomfret, Connecticut.

Scrubs Lose to Poughkeepsie and Newburgh

The second team opened their football season on Saturday, Sept. 30th, by losing to Poughkeepsie High School by a 25-0 score. Both teams fumbled frequently and the entire game was marred by much lose playing. Poughkeepsie seemed to have a decided advantage both in weight and experience but were compelled to fight hard for all their points.

The Scrubs suffered their second defeat of the season on Saturday last when they journeyed to Newburgh and lost 33-0. The home eleven got the jump and had little difficulty in maintaining their lead. Moser played exceptionally well for the Seconds making some deadly tackles. The chief fault of the team seemed to be a lack of experience and team play. Mr. Armstrong, Amherst '09, has kindly volunteered his services as coach and a big improvement is looked for by all.

The Kennedy Readings

The college lecture season was opened in a most adequate manner on the evening of Monday, October second. Charles Rann Kennedy and his wife, Edith Wynn Mathison, gave a number of readings, chosen largely from Mr. Kennedy's own work. The gymnasium was filled to capacity, and the entire audience showed a hearty appreciation for what was no doubt the most finished and artistic program offered here within the memory of the present student body.

Mr. Kennedy was familiar to us because of former visits to the college, and nothing need be said of his dramatic skill except that further acquaintance only makes it seem more delightful. He made a pleasing contribution in the form of a brief talk upon the satiric elements of the New Testament, which he illustrated with appropriate readings. He then introduced Mrs. Kennedy, who first read two poems from Tagore's "Git-anjali." Her diction was unusually polished, and she caused in her hearers a remarkable degree of emotional response. She next gave O'Shaughnessy's "Ode" and a selection from "The Servant in the House," and then she and Mr. Kennedy together read his one-act play "The Terrible Meek."

Later Mr. Kennedy mentioned the fact that he is now at work upon a new play, dealing with street scenes about Jerusalem on the morning of the Crucifixion. He hopes to finish it by spring, and has promised to read it to us as soon as it is completed.

Freshmen Organize

The first meeting of the freshman class was held on Sept. 16th, for the purpose of organizing. Plans for the coming year were discussed and officers elected. A committee consisting of John Linsley, William Hamilton and Alpheus Packard was appointed to draw up a constitution. It was decided to appoint a chairman of labor so that all freshmen work might be evenly distributed. Kiplinger received the appointment. Davey was elected class cheer-leader.

Coal Shortage At the College

Aid of Commissioner Sought—Soft Coal May Be Used Where Possible

When term opened this autumn there was three hundred pounds of coal on the campus, instead of the six hundred tons required for the winter, and this was all of a size suitable for the kitchen range. For the first three weeks we have been, for most of the time, without hot water for baths except in the gymnasium. Fortunately the weather has been of unprecedented warmth, with the result that there has been almost no suffering so far for lack of steam heat. In the kitchen the fires have been made, a hundred pounds of coal at a time having been secured from neighboring dealers. The bakery ovens have been run with wood, a small supply of which is on hand after the summer cleaning up of the trees.

President Bell appealed by letter to State Coal Commissioner Woodin as soon as the Governor appointed him, and Mr. Woodin passed on the request to his Dutchess County subordinate, who is doing all he can to secure some anthracite of proper sizes for the kitchens and the main boilers. It has been recognized by everyone, however, that there will not be enough hard coal procurable, even with official aid, and so three carloads of low-volatile soft coal have been procured for immediate use. This will arrive in the course of a few days. Some of it is already here. It will be used exclusively in the main boilers. The heaters in the gymnasium, the library, the chapel, the President's House, and Hopson cottage, which are run independently of the main plant, must have hard coal.

Of the professors, only Dr. Strong is supplied with coal which was put into his cellars last year; and even he has none of the small size necessary for his kitchen range and hot water system.

It is cold comfort to know that other colleges in our part of the country are not much if any better off. Vassar, which has always burned soft coal, is the only one not seriously hampered in the same way we are.

On the bulletin board of a certain Presbyterian Church they were accustomed to place the title of the sermon for the following Sunday and then the name of the soloist for that day. One week the following was seen:

Sunday, August 14.
Attempting the Impossible
Mrs. Smythe will sing.

Cap: This guy Stickle is so tight that he has his nickle balloons vulcanized.

Hap: Absolutely nothing! Howell is so close that he wouldn't pay a nickle to see the Statue of Liberty do a hand-spring over the Brooklyn Bridge.

Students Careless

SAYS LIBRARIAN, EXPLAINING INCONVENIENCE CAUSED OTHERS

Miss Grace Littell, our amiable librarian, is getting ready to go on the warpath against students who take books from the library without making out cards for them, and those also who take "reserved books" out. At least this seemed probable from a statement from her in Hoffman Library yesterday.

"I have never had as much trouble in this way as this year," said Miss Littell, "and I think it is mostly due to men who have come on the campus this year for the first time and have never used a library before. In an open stack library like ours, it is a point of honor as well as a necessity that no book be taken out by anyone, professor or student, without leaving a borrowing blank properly filled out. Whoever does this, causes no end of trouble. The other night a book was wanted and wanted badly. It was not on the shelves. There was no card filled out for it and so it could not be located on campus. A piece of important work had to go undone. Three days later someone slipped it back. The man who will do this shows himself either ignorant or utterly regardless of the convenience of his fellows.

"Reserve books," she went on, "are books picked out and put on special shelves by professors, for special consultation by all members of a class. These books cannot be taken out at all, except at ten in the evening, in which case they must be back by ten in the morning following. I think a man who will take such a book out—of course he does it without a card—and so throw back all the other men in his class, deserves to have the hazing rule broken in his instance, even though he happens to be a senior."

Shea then attempted a wide end run but fumbled when White tackled him. Lawlor following close behind scooped up the ball and ran down the field for another touchdown. Sparrow succeeded this time in his attempt at goal by drop kick. St. Stephen's again received but, unable to gain materially, was compelled to punt. The half ended with the ball in mid-field.

Score—Rensselaer 13. St. Stephen's 0.

3. R. P. I. had the choice and elected to receive. They then began a long march down the field which terminated with their third touchdown, St. Stephen's fighting hard but unable to hold their heavier opponents. Gowdy failed in his attempt for extra point, being downed on an attempted end run. St. Stephen's received but punted immediately. The fourth touchdown proved to be a repetition of the second. Shea, attempting another end run again fumbled upon being tackled and a Rensselaer back recovering the ball ran down the field for the fourth and last touchdown of the game. An attempt at goal by drop kick again failed. St. Stephen's received and the quarter ended.

Score—Rensselaer 25. St. Stephen's 0.

4. St. Stephen's again punted and R. P. I. rushed the ball to the Annandale ten yard line. Here the Crimson line stiffened and took the ball away on downs. White punted out of danger. Rensselaer by a clever pass again brought the ball to the St. Stephen's five yard line. Here St. Stephen's again took the ball away on downs and proceeded to go up the field by a series of short passes and end runs. The game ended with the Crimson steadily advancing down the field.

Final score—Rensselaer 25. St. Stephen's 0.

Cast Picked for Autumn Plays

At the beginning of every year some hopeful prophet on the campus, predicts great possibilities for the production of one or more plays during the winter months. Usually a start is made by selecting a play and cast, but that is as far as the process ever goes. Most of the students interested in dramatics complain that the chief fault lies in the lack of a competent manager or director. We have always had the material, but rarely the necessary coaching to make for a trained cooperation.

This year we are singularly fortunate in having the personal assistance of President Bell. He has had years of experience in writing and directing college dramatics, and will prove invaluable in this work at St. Stephen's. Professor Edward Voorhees of the department of English will collaborate with the President at rehearsals.

A meeting of the Mummies was held on the evening of October second, Robert Dickerson, Schuyler Crunden, and Horace Donegan were elected as an advisory committee for the year's work. It is planned to open the season with the production of three one-act plays by Lord Dunsany. The cast are as follows:

"The Glittering Gate."
A Burglar—Donegan.
Another Burglar—Craig.

"The Lost Silk Hat."
The Caller—Dickerson.
The Clerk—Osborn.
The Policeman—Randolph.
