MRS. HALEY FISKE LECTURES ON THE DELINQUENT GIRL

On Monday evening, November 20th, the college had the privilege of hearing a lecture by Mrs. Haley Fiske on the subject, “The State, the Church, and the Delinquent Girl.” Mrs. Fiske, as a trustee of the Bedford Reformatory, was well qualified to deal with her subject, and her address, replete with facts, illustrations, and statistics drawn from her experience at Bedford, proved to be very illuminating, and of considerable interest.

After first rapidly sketching the intolerable conditions under which female prisoners lived before Bedford and kindred institutions were established, she went on to describe the institution in detail, its organization, administration, and equipment.

She spoke at length on the great unfilled needs of the institution, due to lack of adequate funds from the State, and of the excellent moral and spiritual results obtained in spite of poor equipment.

As a Church woman, Mrs. Fiske is especially interested in the religious side of the girls’ lives. She finds that there is a lack of contact between the Church and the girls, in spite of their great need for religion, and their great response to it.

Many opportunities for personal service are being neglected. Fiske concluded her address with an appeal to students to take an intelligent and sympathetic interest in such institutions now, and in after life, either as a priest or layman, to lend their active aid improving them.

VARSIY LOSES TO PROVIDENCE 22-13

Team Fights Hard But Succumbs To Break In Final Quarter

The hardy Crimson eleven finished its season at Providence, R. I., on Thanksgiving Day when it went down to defeat before Providence College by a score of 22-13. For three periods the Varsity outplayed and outscored their opponents only to have an unfortunate fumble and a trick forward pass take victory from their grasp. A desperate effort to come back in the last few minutes of play proved fruitless.

Providence drew first blood early in the opening quarter when Trojans plunged thru guard for a touchdown after an exchange of punts and a long run by Brickley had put the ball on the Annandale two yard line. Brickley also kicked a goal for extra point. Several minutes later Delorin threw a long forward pass to White who ran forty-yard flank for touchdown. An attempt at goal by drop-kick failed. For the remainder of the half the two teams battled on even terms, neither goal line being seriously threatened, although the Varsity succeeded in completing a number of passes.

At the beginning of the third quarter a Providence back fumbled and Delorin, seizing upon the opportunity, picked up the ball and ran sixty yards for a touchdown. Simmons secured the extra point from place. Later in this same quarter an attempted forward pass was intercepted by the back who was downed on the Crimson thirty-yard line. Failing to gain thru the line, the back sent a pretty drop-kick between the posts.

At this point the score stood 13-10 in favor of St. Stephen’s.

With the fourth quarter came the breaks that spelled defeat for the Varsity. A long punt glanced thru the arms of a Crimson back only to roll out again and bound toward the goal line where a Providence end pounced upon it. A try for extra point failed. The two elevens had hardly lined up again when a long pass, Brickley to Tarby, secured another touchdown for Providence. The attempt at goal was unsuccessful again. Thereafter, the Varsity, realizing its predicament, brazened and attempted to turn the tide. But, although gaining materially, the time proved too short to score.

Without doubt Providence was one of the most formidable rivals of the season and, despite the fact that the Crimson was forced to taste defeat for the second time in nine starts, the game was not without its bright

CLEAN PLAY.

The following extract from a letter of the Athletic Director at Connecticut Agricultural College to Major Prince speaks for itself.

"I am sorry that I had to be away on November tenth and missed our big game. Your team must surely have been a good one this year. You had no end of compliments on your sportsmanship. Both faculty and students say, get more teams like St. Stephen's here."

In addition to the above, the graduate manager of Hamilton College, writing with regard to scheduling a game for next year, spoke of the team's reputation for clean play. The President of St. Lawrence University told Dr. Muller at the recent inauguration of the President of Colgate that he was always glad to see the St. Stephen's team at Canton because of the sportsmanship with which they played.

Such opinions mean much in these days of college athletics, when so much of our college life is centered in the spirit of competition on the part of so many college eves. A team that can win six games, tie one and lose two and have such a reputation for clean play and sportsmanship, is indeed rarely found.

A COMMUNICATION

Last year, about this time, preparations for the flag scrap were in order. Members of the class of '24 entered the rooms of the freshmen officers and took them for a joy-ride to Providence in a borrowed twin-twenty (the fact that one of the twins was missing need not enter here). The story is well known on campus how the frosh were taken from house to house all over the town and finally got free. After a mad half hour of chasings about in cars, of chattering teeth and shaking knees of running around in bare feet and of dodging policemen, everybody returned in time for the flag scrap. Even the freshmen who had been left in a garage, tied to a wheelbarrow, felt that they wanted to be on hand— and came. The affair was a howling success. Six men were knocked out, everybody was thoroughly winded and dirty, and those who still could crawl were wholly content. Are we not entitled to as good an exhibition of "the college boy at play" this year? We hope so. We expect to see your team divided against house— divided into several pieces in fact. We hope to collect some teeth from the battle-field to keep as souvenirs, or at least a handful of hair. Let us see the good old spirit arise and do something. The classes are evenly matched. They won't hurt each other— much. Get goin', Sophs! Frosh, do your stuff! An upperclassman.

American Colleges to Erect Memorial in Louvain

The week between December third and December tenth has been set for the campaign, throughout all the colleges of the United States, to raise money for the rebuilding of the library of Louvain University. New York State colleges are leading in the movement to complete the million dollar fund this winter, so that the magnificent library may once more be completed. Under Dr. Livingston Farrand, President of Cornell University, the student body is helping to complete the head, and movement to raise at least one dollar per student. Institutions of higher learning in other states will make their contributions later.

Income activity of the colleges is a continuation of the work begun by the American Committee for the Restoration of Louvain University. In 1914, soon after the library had been destroyed by the invading Germans, this committee of noted Americans was formed to raise funds for restoration. Gifts were received to the amount of $180,000. The cornerstone for the library was laid in 1921, and the foundations are now under construction. The present movement is to provide the completed building, for books on hand.

At St. Stephen's a committee has been appointed to solicit and receive contributions. This committee consists of: Dr. Davidson, Mr. MacDonald, Dr. Muller; Ameo, O. Simons, Williams, and Lewis. In a letter recently addressed to that committee, Dr. Farrand of Cornell wrote:

"At present about 900 books are in Louvain from Europe and America number about two hundred volumes and are stored in attics and warehouses. It is hoped that the students of America will be able to furnish a home for these books, and plans for the library have been prepared by a distinguished American architect. The plans are conceived in the best French and Brabazonian tradition, and have been enthusiastically approved by the authorities of the University of Louvain. It is earnestly hoped that contributions will be forthcoming in a measure sufficient to realize this international aim.

"As chairman for the committee for New York State I am writing to you in behalf of St. Stephen's College participate in this movement, and I shall be grateful if you will not only approve the plan but will also, in such other steps as may seem to you fitting to afford your students the opportunity of contributing, for a suitable memorial in the library from any college or university wishing to perpetuate the memory of its graduates who gave their lives in the great war."

Alumni Notes

The Rev. C. E. McAllister, recently rector of St. Matthew's Parish, Prince George's County, Maryland, has been called to the rectorship of Elizabeth City Parish in the diocese of Southern Virginia. Mr. McAllister obtained the degree of Bachelor of Arts at St. Stephen's in 1914. During the war he served in the navy as a volunteer chaplain, being stationed at the recruit depot at Pelham Bay. During the three years that he was stationed in Hyattsville, his parish increased his membership from 150 to more than six hundred.

George S. Gresham '19 writes from Shanghai, China, that he expects to return to the States for good next year. Also that he has met Smith '17 and Sanford '15, both of whom are located at Zanzibar.

Football Team Given Extra Vacation

The members of the Varsity football team were excused from all Friday and Saturday classes after the Providence game on Thanksgiving Day. Most of the men took advantage of this extra holiday and returned directly to their homes from Providence.

The team immediately after the game a turkey dinner was served to the team at the Crown hotel. Major Prince spoke of the men and congratulating them on their splendid work both in the day's game and throughout the entire season. Captain Simmons, Lyte and Lane, all of whom graduated in June, were also called upon.

Secretary of Near East Relief Makes Appeal at Chapel Service

Mr. Paul Sh immo n, who is organizing secretary of the Near East Relief was a special speaker at the chapel service on December 3rd. He came to present the urgent needs of the Greeks, Armenians, and Nestorian Christians in the Near East. He is a Persian who came to this country years ago to learn the English language. While here he spent four years as a student at St. Stephen's, and a year at Columbia University, from which he graduated. After his graduation, he went as a member of a mission to the Nestorian Christians in Persia. He was there with his family when the war broke out, and the Moslem outrages commenced. He vividly pictured the havoc and devastation wrought by the Turks both in Persia and in Armenia, and the wholesale murder of Nestorians in that region. He himself was fortunate enough to escape with his family, although they were separated for awhile. He described the work of the American Rescue Missions in that country, and was unwavering in his praise. "The work is not a failure but a success," he said. America's refusal to accept a mandate over Armenia was a great mistake, and one for which we are paying as well as the people of the Near East, for the relief work is vastly more expensive than protection would have been. He blames America for letting politics interfere with her duty.

A new danger is now threatening the Near East, he said. This time it is the Greeks who are to be the sufferers. Turkey has decided to deport all the Greeks living within the borders of Turkey back into Greece. This means the eviction of millions of people without resources upon a population of only five million. It is the same as that of the Armenians who were suddenly called upon to care for five millions of people. The resources of Greece are, of course, wholly inadequate to meet this emergency. He concluded his address with financial aid, however little might be spared. It was afterwards announced that cash gifts of $35.00 and for $200.00 had been received.

Basketball

Prospects for the coming basketball season at St. Stephen's are extremely bright. With the loss of last year's letter men available, namely Capt. Ritchey, White, Coffin, Noble, and Bissell, and a wealth of new material to pick from, a fast team is assured. The schedule has not been completed, but the tentative arrangement calls for ten games, five at home and five away. Trips to New England and New Jersey are probable. A complete report will be posted in the near future.

though we were far too polite to listen, we heard him say: "You ought to

To which she sweetly replied, "But I just adore winter sports, and its like being on skis to stand on your feet.
"We did not hear any more but we imagine that was all there was to hear.
Another couple was greatly discussing philology and the reading of a person's character from the features. "Have you ever tried palmtistry?" she queried in wide-eyed innocence when he had finished with her character to the satisfaction of both. He showed that there must have been something human about him when he replied, "Well, let's not start that out here on the floor!"
Asparges was thrown into a turmell Saturday morning, by a rumor that one of the girls had either fainted or died in her room. The door was locked and no amount of call-mering brought forth any reply from within. Other girls gathered and the noise and lamentation increased.
Just as the uproar was at its height
the cause of all the excitement had abandoned the room and gone for a walk. However it must have been fun while it lasted.
Breakfast was served in most of the fraternity-houses, or in some cases in the rooms. Walks and dancing helped to pass the time during the morning—at least what little time was left when the girls had got up and dressed. Many of the men saw to it that their partners got home in safety. The next two days we spent in recovering from the effects.
We do not mean by that the dance had had effects on us. "After the dance was over," however, a deep indigo cloud seemed to settle over the campus. The men that had been to the dance were blue because it was all over and there seemed to be nothing to look forward to in the near future, and the men who for some reason had been unable to go were blue because they were realizing
what they had missed.

Distinguished Preachers During December

The College Chapel, which has an enviable reputation for the well-known, and oftentimes distinguished preachers who occupy its pulpit on Sunday mornings, is particularly fortunate this month. On December 3, Mr. Paul Shimmon, organizing
Secretary of the Near East Relief, and an alumnus of this college was the speaker. Next Sunday, December 8th, the Rev. Lawrence T. Cole, PhB., head of Trinity School of New York City, and a former President of St. Stephen's is to occupy the pulpit.

Gifs To College

During the past week Mrs. John H. Caswell of New York City, has given, one thousand dollars to the college endowment fund in memory of her husband, the late John H. Caswell.

Mrs. Emma Flower Taylor of Watertown, N.Y., has presented five hundred dollars to the college to help with the purchase of books for the library for this year. This gift takes care of one-sixth of the books appropriation for one year.

Xmas Recess

College will close on the twentieth of this month for the Christmas recess. Classes will begin again on Wednesday, the third of January.

The annual board's head dinner will take place on Monday evening, December 18th. This dinner is one of the big events of the college year at Annandale and special plans are now being made for a gala occasion. Preceding the dinner, a carol service will be held in the chapel.

Thanksgiving Day

With both football teams off the campus, Thanksgiving Day proved to be exceptionally quiet. Special services were held in the chapel during the morning. After the usual Thanksgiving Day dinner, a number of the members of the faculty and the students adjourned to Mr. Smith's room where an impromptu musical was held. Dr. Muller and Shower were the entertainers.

Dr. Bell In Buffalo

Dr. Bell has been conducting a mission at Trinity Church, Buffalo, during the past week. In speaking of Dr. Bell's visit the Buffalo Times says, "The missionary will be Dr. Bernard Hiddings Bell, President of St. Stephen's College, noted throughout the country as a preacher of great vision and spiritual beneficenece."

S. A. E. House Party

One of the most enjoyable features of the Junior Prom week-end was the house party given by the members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity at their house Saturday afternoon and evening. About twenty-five couples danced to the rhythmic music of Charley Dumas' Synchopating Five. Mrs. Osborne and Dr. Wilson were in attendance as characterless.

She (observing a small tree-stump in a field), "Oh, what is that,—a cow over there?"

He (scornfully), "Say, what size do you think we grow cows around here?"

She, "We'll, I wasn't sure, since you have condensed milk."
