VARISITY DEFEATS CLARKSON TECH.

VICTORY REGISTERED BY NARROW MARGIN

Captain Bittner and his husky quintet staged a remarkable come-back against the fast Clarkson Tech. five on the evening of January twenty-first when, after trailing hopelessly 16-8 at the end of the first half, they fought through the second twenty minutes of play and finally emerged victorious by a single point. It was Bittner who, besides searing four baskets in that second half, dropped the ball through the hoop for the winning points, just ten seconds before the whistle ended the game.

During the first half the team played its usual game, taking things easily and not over-exerting itself. Cof- fin was the first to score, when he dropped in a pretty basket before he got inside the foul line. Then French scored twice consecutively and Clarkson took the lead, never to be headed until the final moments of the game. Noble dribbled down the floor and scored a goal; Breckenridge retali- ated for the engineers by scoring two. While Bittner was dropping in a basket and Rieche and Kilby were scoring a free-try space, Colberella tallied twice from the floor, McGirigan once, and Butcher made two free-tries. The guarding on the part of the Varsity was poor, and the team was refusing to pull together. Score at the end of the first half: Clarkson 16, St. Stephen's 8.

The team that took the floor at the beginning of the second half was a reversal. The defensive work par- ticularly that of Kilby, was so good that Clarkson was able to score before one goal from the floor, the other two points resulting from free-tries. Rieche started things going by dropping in a basket and a free-try. Bittner ran wild and, aided by wonderful co-operation from his team-mates, scored three baskets in a row, incid- entally adding two points from free-tries. Then, with the college plugging for just one more basket, Bittner dashed down the floor and ran the ball in for the winning points. There was barely enough time left for the following jump-up. Final score: St. Stephen's 21, Clarkson 20.

The line-up: St. Stephen's: Clarkson Breckenridge, R.F. (Huskell) (Clark) Butcher, C. McGirigan

What Hope For Europe?

Mr. Vanderlip Expects Worse Chaos—Says Supernatural Imperialism Must Go

"The world today must be made to understand these two definitions: Civilization is the art of living to- gether in harmony; Freedom is to be found only in absolute obedience to law." Such was the substance of an address delivered to the college January 29 by Mr. Frank Vanderlip, who is generally admitted to be one of America's sanest and most profoundly versed authorities upon interna- tional affairs. His speech in full with the leading question and answers which followed it:

"This is not a formal address, but an exposition of what I am, as an interna- tional financier, think of modern Eu- rope in its relation to us. It is our habit to think of efficiency as an American monopoly; in the last ten years two million men have left our farms, and yet agricultural produc- tion has not fallen off. If Ford ran his plant with 1914 methods, he would need a million men to do the work of his thousand hundred present- employers. Yet in the last ten years the efficiency of a European in- stitution, the French army, has also increased 10:1. We need then a foreign military destination? No! it will take another luste, with the army only for a background. France wishes to get the premier industrial posi- tion in Europe, and to do this she is working in conjunction with the low- principled German industrialist in an attempt to enslave the rest of Ger- many. She can have no military op- position, for England lies under the shadow of the wings of France's twenty-four hundred airplanes. Then what opposition has she? Little. A gray haired accountant, who sits on a stool and totals up France's outstanding- debts. Before the war she had a growing floating debt which she was seeking to fund into long-term paper. These short-term notes are now heap- ed higher than ever. In France's Min-

CHANGES IN HONOR COURSES

As several important changes have been made in the faculty rules as to honor courses, and as there seems to have been confusion in the minds of the students, the complete regulations are given below.

1. Various departments shall offer semester courses for students who are capable of independent study under tutorial direction.

2. In these courses the student shall consult individually the instructor (Continued on page 3)
Head of Metropolitan Welfare Bureau Lectures Here

In a lecture, "The Romance of Health," delivered Monday evening, January 3d, Dr. Lee Kauffer Frankel, head of the Welfare Bureau of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and author of numerous brochures on welfare work, spoke of the wonderful advance that has been made in the past two decades in raising health standards in the United States, and emphasized the part that welfare societies have played in this task. His address was overflowing with optimism, and he predicted still greater things for the future when, with the advance of scientific knowledge and the application of that knowledge, all human disease will be conquered. Today, he said, a little more than sixty years ago, a man might have been considered "cured" as soon as he could walk. Today, he said, a little more than sixty years ago, a man might have been considered "cured" as soon as he could walk. Today, the address was filled with words of hope and encouragement. The magnitude of the welfare problem is great, he said, and it will take many more years to solve. But he was optimistic that it could be solved.

What ought we to do in Europe? I asked of a member of the audience what we ought to do in Europe. He replied, "We ought to do what we can to help the people of Europe to understand their problems and to find solutions for them. We ought to help them to understand the importance of education and to promote educational opportunities. We ought to help them to understand the importance of health and to promote healthful living. We ought to help them to understand the importance of social justice and to promote fair and just policies. We ought to help them to understand the importance of economic stability and to promote economic growth. We ought to help them to understand the importance of cultural diversity and to promote cultural exchange."

Baseball Schedule Out
King, manager of baseball, announced that, with the help of MacLeod, the following schedule has been arranged for the spring season. The schedule is as follows: April 12, R. P. L. at Troy; 17, Conn. Aggies at Red Hook; 18, Norwich at Red Hook; 25, Clarkson at Poughkeepsie; 26, St. Lawrence at Canton; May 2, Norwich at Northfield; 3, St. Michael's at Winookski; 10, Albany State at Albany; 16 Upton at Red Hook; April 15, Albany State at Red Hook; 24, C. N. Y. at Red Hook; 31, Manhattan College at New York.

Readers will realize that this is the hardest schedule to play in St. Stephen's since the last spring's Varisty squad, representing every position except pitcher, back in College, Coach Don Murray and Captain Noble expect to play through the season. If only a dependable pitching staff can be developed, alumni and under-graduates back up the squad and help them through this schedule?

Intercollegiate Baseball
During the coming spring, the class of '27 will indulge in a three-game series preparatory to the annual Commencement Day Sophomore-Freshman battle. Any man not on the Varsity squad is eligible to represent his class. The games will be played at Gabriele Field on April 19, May 12, and May 26; the final June 7.

Assitant baseball manager MacLeod announced that a no-game schedule for the second team is in the process of preparation and will soon be announced.

The scrub basketball team will play Poughkeepsie High School in Poughkeepsie on February 16. Back up 24, and they'll back Poughkeepsie down!

The call for battery candidates will soon be issued and practice to be held in the G. T. Gym. Boys are expected to do most of the work on the receiving end, while Kilby, Morgan and Deloria will be in the box. Drop in at the Gym. First then, and give them a little encouragement.

To augment the basketball schedule with Eastern College for February second had to be cancelled because of conflicting dates. On the latter part, the Varsity five is being kept in good condition by three days a week practice with the scrub. All of their minds were successfully survived mid-year exams, and eager to resume their schedules.

Sweaters Awarded to Football Men
The members of last fall's successful Varsity football team were amply rewarded for their weeks of hard work and perspiration when, after dinner on January twenty-ninth, sweaters bearing the Varsity "G" were given out by President Bell and Coach Murray to all men who had worn the "G" in the game against Columbia. Old Preston Hall shook with cheering, clapping of hands and stamping of feet as each man left his seat and hurried up to grasp Percy's hand and to receive his sweater. Those who were honored for so ably representing the Columbia were: Captain White, Captain-elect Grant Noble, Wilson, Jones, Judd, Grever, Coffin, Forbush, Simmons, Kilby, Deloria, Murray, King, Patterson, Harrison, and Manager Woodruff.

In a short speech, Captain White expressed his thanks to the squad members, the under-graduates and the Coach for the support they had given him, and wished success to next year's eleven.

Captain-elect Noble had a few words to say on the prospects of the coming team in Coach Murray. The Coach himself encouraged every under-graduate to try and induce men of athletic ability to enter the college, in order to insure the future success of the Varsity teams.

"Two Beautiful Black Eyes."
Coach Murray has requested all men who expect to report for football next fall to join the classes in boxing and wrestling. Instruction in these branches of sport is being given in the Gym, three hours a week. In this way the men will be kept in condition during the winter and be in good trim when spring practice begins.

Coffin Still Available
That has a sad appearance, but is really a piece of good news. Coffin, for the past three and a half years a fighting member of all major Varsity squads, had planned to leave college at mid-term. He has, however, changed his mind, and will be available for the rest of the season. With him at center the basketball team will be able to keep its front unbroken, and in the spring the Varsity outfields also will profit.

Chapel Notes

Taking as his text the heading that is found at the beginning of each of the four gospels, "The Gospel According To," the Rt. Rev. Dr. Acheson, Bishop Suffragan of Connecticut, preached a vigorous evangelical sermon, pointedly addressed to the student body.

The gospels, he said, are not really four, but are aspects of the same gospel, giving few reasons, impressed by four different symbols,—St. Matthew an angel, St. Mark a lion, St. Luke an ox, and St. John an eagle. They are all the gospel of Jesus Christ. There are many other gospels, he declared,—gospels created without Jesus Christ, but these are all anathema,—accursed, and lead to destruction, as the German gospel of Mith and the modern gospel of Money.

There is another gospel,—St. Paul's gospel. He calls it "my gospel" because he has made the gospel of Jesus Christ a part of his life. In this sense we should all have a gospel. "What is the gospel according to you?" he asked, "Is it good news, and how does it work? Unless it works amongst your fellow something is wrong with it. If it is a gospel that has been pared down until your little mind can get around it, it is of no value to the world. If we have the narrow gospel of belief in Christ, only as a good example we can aid the world little, for it needs a gospel with weight and breadth and depth. The world needs comfort for its sorrows, healing for its sickness, and redemption for its sins; an example is not enough. By our lives men read our gospels, and are either led towards God or away from Him by what they live there."

 Tear up that line, tear up that line;
 what matter if it hurts?
The period is near an end,
