Bard College
Student Newspaper Archive
(1895-1999)

All Rights Reserved. Copyright © 1999 by Bard College
E.P.C. Seeks Remedy For Store Situation
Faculty Committees Undergo Reorganization
Trustees Brought Into Freshman Regs. Talks
Mock General Session Plans Are Delivered
Education Study Plans Explored
Northwestern Biologist Slated to Speak Here

Decisiveness, Bombs and Secular Truths
John A. Toomey
Peace Corps Work Discussed at Confab
Iris Johnson

Season’s First Production Set

Team Claims Victory No. 2; Downs Oneonta
Trustees Brought Into Freshmen Regs. Talks

A committee of the Board of Trustees will come to campus tomorrow to meet with six representatives of the freshmen regulations committee for a discussion of the freshmen regulations committee.

Mock General Session Plans Are Delivered

Preliminary announcement of the 1962 Mid-Atlantic Model General Assembly has been made by the student President, Edward E. Krehm. The Colloquium Council for the United Nations, an organization composed of student member countries, sponsors an Assembly annually. This year the Secretary of Freshmen Co-Ordinates worked closely with each college delegation and assigns to it, a country, at Queens College, New York.

Last weekend, on March 26, Bard participated for the first time, sending six students and their representatives to the Colloquium Council, to represent the United States. Bard colleagues said that the students not only had not been determined beforehand for the committee, but that they did not have any previous experience in committee work.

Northwestern Biologist Slated to Speak Here

Many students, many of whom had never heard of Birmingham before, found that the keynote speaker for the second-day program was none other than Professor E. A. Brown, from the Department of Biological Sciences.

Education Study Plans Explored

Academic development committee is considering the possibility of instituting a program which would enable Bard students to achieve professional training certificates in the state of New York. A recent meeting of the Committee, Mr. Frank Oja, Jay Gershon, and Allan Sunshine, decided to submit a proposal to the Board of Trustees. The proposal will be submitted at the next meeting of the Board of Trustees, and will be discussed at the next meeting.

Academic development committee is considering the possibility of instituting a program which would enable Bard students to achieve professional training certificates in the state of New York. A recent meeting of the Committee, Mr. Frank Oja, Jay Gershon, and Allan Sunshine, decided to submit a proposal to the Board of Trustees. The proposal will be submitted at the next meeting of the Board of Trustees, and will be discussed at the next meeting.
EDITORIAL

We are very pleased and relieved that a committee of the Board of Trustees is going to campus to view first hand the facts involved in an important issue. Before most of the decision that greatly affects student life on campus and the future of student democracy at Bard, the Board must be aware of all the factors present and the opinions and feelings of the students. This has already happened and perhaps only by a meeting of this kind. Agreeing to a meeting removes all the biases and personal interpretations of an intermediary, and reduces errors in communications to a minimum.

We are also pleased with the recognition that the Trustee's visit is giving to the importance of the student voice at Bard. The most important resource of any college, is its students. No philosophy, regulations, or curriculum, can make a college outstanding or even successful if it is not in harmony with the student body.

We hope that the Trustees, if not the President, are well aware of the possible effect of their decision on freshmen social regulations on the Bard Community.

The freshmen regulations are successful because they are based upon student responsibility. Student responsibility has developed very successfully in the hard work of the students in planning the regulations and living up to the best for the college, and want to see them succeed. Regulations degrommatically prevent the students from organizing and encourage an atmosphere of responsibility.

The freshmen requests for equality with the rest of the community, has used his reason, and made an image on Bard's public image. He feels that the act of granting the same privileges that are already working successfully for the older students, to the new students, will bring the wrath of the entire world outside (including any liberal college) upon Bard.

There have been no objections to the present regulations from outside sources and we do not think that there will be any if the freshmen requests also are granted.

An unceasing, relentless body is a much greater threat to Bard's public image. We do not think that regulations or philosophy at Bard should be formulated by high school guidance counselors and unbounded fears of public image. They must be based upon an image of Bard's ideals and needs.

The conserving the Bard community faces a serious water shortage. This is not a new problem. Two years ago the water situation was better, but it was so bad that water had to be brought to the campus from the city.

At present the whole campus, including the New Dorm and Belfieldow, is served by four deep wells. One more well could help avert so serious a shortage as the campus experienced three years ago. We urge all in the administration to join the college in giving this matter their most careful consideration.

Decisiveness, Bombs and Secular Truths

By John A. Twomey

"For the sanity of things is in adventure. Ideas won't keep."

Whitman is the Dialogue.

Americans are in an impatience state. The world has been one of the elements. The百家 of companies for eight years. Yet, as Thucydides reminds us, in the domestic virtues may be foiled, but the real question of one's time is when, and probably, only by a meeting of this kind. Agreeing to a meeting removes all the biases and personal interpretations of an intermediary, and reduces errors in communications to a minimum.

We are also pleased with the recognition that the Trustee's visit is giving to the importance of the student voice at Bard. The most important resource of any college, is its students. No philosophy, regulations, or curriculum, can make a college outstanding or even successful if it is not in harmony with the student body.

We hope that the Trustees, if not the President, are well aware of the possible effect of their decision on freshmen social regulations on the Bard Community.

The freshmen regulations are successful because they are based upon student responsibility. Student responsibility has developed very successfully in the hard work of the students in planning the regulations and living up to the best for the college, and want to see them succeed. Regulations degrommatically prevent the students from organizing and encourage an atmosphere of responsibility.

The freshmen requests for equality with the rest of the community, has used his reason, and made an image on Bard's public image. He feels that the act of granting the same privileges that are already working successfully for the older students, to the new students, will bring the wrath of the entire world outside (including any liberal college) upon Bard.

There have been no objections to the present regulations from outside sources and we do not think that there will be any if the freshmen requests also are granted.

An unceasing, relentless body is a much greater threat to Bard's public image. We do not think that regulations or philosophy at Bard should be formulated by high school guidance counselors and unbounded fears of public image. They must be based upon an image of Bard's ideals and needs.

The conserving the Bard community faces a serious water shortage. This is not a new problem. Two years ago the water situation was better, but it was so bad that water had to be brought to the campus from the city.

At present the whole campus, including the New Dorm and Belfieldow, is served by four deep wells. One more well could help avert so serious a shortage as the campus experienced three years ago. We urge all in the administration to join the college in giving this matter their most careful consideration.

Peace Corps Work Discussed at Confab

By Iris Johnson

It was made quite clear last weekend that (1) college will be required for the Peace Corps, (2) that qualification will not easily be based on education. "Students can begin now to prepare themselves for the Peace Corps", said Mr. William W. Zuber, Director of Planning and Education and one of the many speakers at the two day New York regional conference stating the "open" and "objectives" of the Corps.

"They should gain proficiency in a language, have knowledge of American history and institutions, and develop a particular skill—agronomy, radio technique, animal husbandry, teaching—which will be of value in an underdeveloped country, be continued."

For example, needs agriculturists, teachers, recreation supervisors. East Jarret needs, audiologists, specialists, librarians, bricklays, and a sociologist. Malaysia needs librarians, mechanics, teachers, nurses, chemists and lab technicians. Nigeria, which has had "one of the most successful programs," has requested teachers in help in the development of a secondary school program.

Qualifications for the Corps were not based on the personality of the applicant for the particular country, testing results, potential, personal recommendations, it was brought.

Seven references are needed along with six exams including history, language, aptitude, intelligence, achievement, psychological, and one particular skill.

"There is no passing score," said Miss Sally Bowles, Sectional Division. "One's score gives one's achievement in relation to one's education." It is the Peace Corps in looking for the best possible people, she concluded.

The success of the Peace Corps will depend entirely upon their comprehension in their job and their adaptability," added Mr. S. K. Oyama, Chief Federal Education Adviser of Nigeria.

The handfuls interested in the Peace Corps may contact these campus representatives on campus or write to Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. To qualify one must be over 18 years of age, have no dependents, and be willing to go anywhere in the world.

Peace Corps Work Discussed at Confab

By Iris Johnson

It was made quite clear last weekend that (1) college will be required for the Peace Corps, (2) that qualification will not easily be based on education. "Students can begin now to prepare themselves for the Peace Corps", said Mr. William W. Zuber, Director of Planning and Education and one of the many speakers at the two day New York regional conference stating the "open" and "objectives" of the Corps.

"They should gain proficiency in a language, have knowledge of American history and institutions, and develop a particular skill—agronomy, radio technique, animal husbandry, teaching—which will be of value in an underdeveloped country, be continued."

For example, needs agriculturists, teachers, recreation supervisors. East Jarret needs, audiologists, specialists, librarians, bricklays, and a sociologist. Malaysia needs librarians, mechanics, teachers, nurses, chemists and lab technicians. Nigeria, which has had "one of the most successful programs," has requested teachers in help in the development of a secondary school program.

Qualifications for the Corps were not based on the personality of the applicant for the particular country, testing results, potential, personal recommendations, it was brought.

Seven references are needed along with six exams including history, language, aptitude, intelligence, achievement, psychological, and one particular skill.

"There is no passing score," said Miss Sally Bowles, Sectional Division. "One's score gives one's achievement in relation to one's education." It is the Peace Corps in looking for the best possible people, she concluded.

The success of the Peace Corps will depend entirely upon their comprehension in their job and their adaptability," added Mr. S. K. Oyama, Chief Federal Education Adviser of Nigeria.

The handfuls interested in the Peace Corps may contact these campus representatives on campus or write to Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. To qualify one must be over 18 years of age, have no dependents, and be willing to go anywhere in the world.

Peace Corps Work Discussed at Confab

By Iris Johnson

It was made quite clear last weekend that (1) college will be required for the Peace Corps, (2) that qualification will not easily be based on education. "Students can begin now to prepare themselves for the Peace Corps", said Mr. William W. Zuber, Director of Planning and Education and one of the many speakers at the two day New York regional conference stating the "open" and "objectives" of the Corps.

"They should gain proficiency in a language, have knowledge of American history and institutions, and develop a particular skill—agronomy, radio technique, animal husbandry, teaching—which will be of value in an underdeveloped country, be continued."

For example, needs agriculturists, teachers, recreation supervisors. East Jarret needs, audiologists, specialists, librarians, bricklays, and a sociologist. Malaysia needs librarians, mechanics, teachers, nurses, chemists and lab technicians. Nigeria, which has had "one of the most successful programs," has requested teachers in help in the development of a secondary school program.

Qualifications for the Corps were not based on the personality of the applicant for the particular country, testing results, potential, personal recommendations, it was brought.

Seven references are needed along with six exams including history, language, aptitude, intelligence, achievement, psychological, and one particular skill.

"There is no passing score," said Miss Sally Bowles, Sectional Division. "One's score gives one's achievement in relation to one's education." It is the Peace Corps in looking for the best possible people, she concluded.

The success of the Peace Corps will depend entirely upon their comprehension in their job and their adaptability," added Mr. S. K. Oyama, Chief Federal Education Adviser of Nigeria.

The handfuls interested in the Peace Corps may contact these campus representatives on campus or write to Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. To qualify one must be over 18 years of age, have no dependents, and be willing to go anywhere in the world.
Left of Left

By Richard Gresmer

In recent weeks the very foundation of the idea of a Bard Community has come under attack. With the new emphasis on the part of the Administration regarding the division of the college into classes the idea of a Community has almost been shattered. It is only to the credit of the student body that the Community still exists, perhaps, stronger now than ever before. Since the exit of James Cune as the President of this college, the administration policy has been in the direction of creating gaps between the various classes in the school. The administration has attempted to give new and greater meaning to the words Old Students and New Students. For its own far-reaching motives, the Kline administration has failed to destroy the once solid Bard Community.

During this prolonged attack upon the foundation of our daily lives one person has stood out above the rest in the battle to save the tradition of Bard College as a Community in which all members have certain individual rights which cannot be taken away. Dorothy Babette Bourne has long been a friend to the students. There are those of us who might argue with her concerning specific issues, but none can doubt that her motivation has been of purist nature with only the well being of the college and the ultimate happiness of the students as her goal.

We may easily describe the visible attributes of Dean Bourne. She has been consistently there when needed. It has never been difficult to see her about anything. She has always been willing and courteous to listen to the problems and complaints of students. She has done many things to help the Community and its members live a better life.

It is difficult to describe the feeling that Mrs. Bourne has imparted to the students. The warmth and eagerness to be of help cannot be told in words. There is no way to relate the simple fact that she is a fine and wonderful person as well as a fine Dean. It is greatly to her credit as a human being that one could enter her office, speak with her, and even if nothing was settled, nothing permanently solved, still emerge with a feeling that all was going to work out for the best.

There have been unhappy times in past months when it appeared as if Dean Bourne was standing with the Administration against what the students wanted at the time. Yet, while there has been doubt as to the integrity of the Administration, there has never been the slightest question of her sincerity.

Mrs. Bourne has been underestimated and unappreciated by many in the Community and has had to suffer sniping attacks from not only students. We are all saddened that she is to leave at the end of this semester. In the future, perhaps, we shall realize what we may have taken for granted. We shall certainly miss her.

There is a way to show her that we appreciate what she has done for the Bard Community through the years. The Federation urges Council to allocate funds to be used for a giant, all-college party in honor of Dean Bourne so that she might leave us with a subtle and happy farewell. This, we feel, would be a fitting end to a happy and fruitful association.

---

Season's First Production Set

The fall season at the Bard College Playhouse will open Saturday, Then, and for the following three nights, through October 21, at 8:00 p.m., the drama department will produce Henrik Ibsen's "Hedda Gabler," a play which many consider the masterpiece of nineteenth century realism.

For this production, the department has called on a number of its best actors. Paula Shulachman, seen regularly each season for the last few years, plays the lead; Leonard Rosen and Leonard Lorkum, also familiar actors, are her husband and unfulfilled passion respectively, while Sara Patterson, Caryl Ambrose, Sandra Enoschel and an actor new to the company, Michael Lawrence, complete the cast.

---

Motel and Restaurant SAWDUST TRAIL

FRIDAY SPECIAL — TWO 1-POUND LOBSTERS .......... $4.50

Steaks and Sea Foods

Closed Mondays

Tel. Rhinebeck TR 6-6189

Route 9 Between Rhinebeck and Red Hook

---

HAROLD'S SNAKE BAR

Liquors and Beer

Closed Tuesday

---

Annandale-on-Hudson

Annadale's Hotel

Social Relaxation for Bardians

Good Food — Beer — Liquor

Open Nightly

---

RED HOOK BAKERY

Baking Done On Premises

Occasional Cakes Our Specialty

33 West Market Street

RED HOOK, N. Y.
Team Claims Victory No. 2; Downs Oneonta

Barb won its second soccer game here Tuesday afternoon before approximately one hundred spectators. The opponents were Oneonta College.

The game began shortly after four o'clock. Barb took the opening kickoff, but lost the ball shortly after to the opponents who managed to score two goals in the first few minutes.

The hosts broke the tie on a goal by Ray Hilton on a free pass from Bob Gillen. They tied the score in the second period when Ted Butter shot one past the Oneonta goalie.

After the halftime break Barb came on with a burst of energy to score three quick goals. Chris Willets netted a penalty kick, Ray Hilton added another goal, and Bob Gillen also scored.

The rest of the game had much action but no scoring. Exceptional performances were contributed by Peter Esselman, Ray Hilton, Bob Gillen, Chris Willets and Charlie Holderlander.

The team plays its next game here on Wednesday, Nov. 1, against Orange County Community College.

Let Us Arrange Your Travel

PLANE — SHIP — TRAIN — BUS TOURS — CRUISES — HOTELS

CALL

Barbara Le

3 Mill St.
Rhinebeck, N. Y.

— NO SERVICE CHARGE —

Manny's

Red Hook Barber Shop

2 Barbers

New Modern Establishment

Across from New Bank

21 W. Market

Closed Wednesday

Community Garage

OF RHINEBECK, INC.

Your

DODGE — DODGE DART

Dealer

65 East Market Street
Rhinebeck, N. Y.