

Prepare for International Travel

Practice Good Digital Hygiene

This flyer is designed to help individuals who may be affected by the impending travel ban prepare to travel through U.S. ports of entry. For case-specific advice and information, please consult with a qualified immigration lawyer or accredited representative as soon as possible.

1

Disable Face ID on your Cellphone

Disable this feature so that U.S. immigration officials cannot easily access the contents of your phone. Instead use a strong, unique password or passcode to protect your information.

2

Delete all Apps not Essential for Travel

Immigration officials may review any apps on your phone, including your email, photos, and social media, to determine if there appears to be any security-related reason to deny your entry to the U.S.

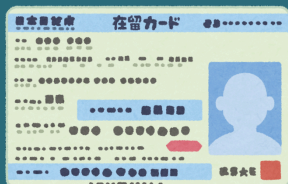

3

Clear Recently Deleted Folder

Make sure to find and delete the contents of your recently deleted folder so that immigration officials cannot locate the folder and review any information it may contain.

4

Take Photos of Proof of Current U.S. Immigration Status

Make access to your current U.S. immigration status easy by taking photos of each document.

5

Carry a Hard Copy of Proof of Current U.S. Immigration Status and Emergency Contact Information

In case you lose access to your cell phone, it is important to carry with you all proof of your current U.S. immigration status along with phone numbers for your emergency contacts.
